Construction pact proposal is voted down

A shutdown of major highway and building construction projects continued in this metropolitan region today after laborers' union locals and the Laborers' Southwestern District Council rejected a proposal to settle the 21-day strike.

Delegates to the district council rejected the proposed contract in a meeting Sunday and laborers union locals which negotiate contract terms separately from the council turned down the contract proposal in instances where it was offered for a vote.

There was only one exception. The Wood River Laborers' local accepted the contract which provides a wage increase of $2.50 per hour over the three years of the contract.

Arthur Griffin, business manager of the Granite City Laborers Union, could not be reached today, but it was reported the Granite City union did not offer the proposal for a vote after the delegates to the district council decided to turn down the contract terms.

The tentative proposal was reached in a meeting between laborers' representatives and the Southern Illinois Builders Association Friday, after daily meetings throughout the week. A U.S. mediator is participating in the talks.

Laborers throughout the 12 counties of the Southern Illinois district went on strike Aug. 1 after their contracts expired at midnight July 31. All other crafts unions have ratified new contracts, but workers in these unions are refusing to cross the laborers' picket lines.

The district council negotiates on behalf of highway construction laborers in 39 locals and for building laborers in 29 of them. The other 10 locals conduct their negotiations separately.

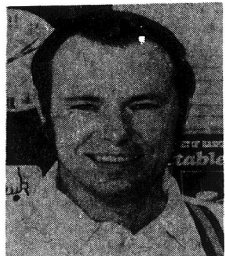

Tom O'Brien, mediator for the U.S. Mediation and Conciliation Service at St. Louis, said the next meeting will be subject to call by the mediation service, which means it could be from several days to a week.

Wayne Barber, executive manager of the SIBA, said today that no further meetings have been set at this time.

The Waterloo, Ill., union local voted on the proposal Friday night and rejected it. The delegates to the district council voted against it so that the proposal did not go before the unions represented by the council.

On the heels of this action the Granite City local and the East St. Louis local did not put the proposal to a vote.

Teacher proposal ratified

Higher pay for Granite City teachers in the 1978-79 year is contained in an agreement ratified Friday morning by a vote of members of American Federation of Teachers Local 743.

Approval of the pact will be recommended by the two seven-member bargaining teams to the Granite City Board of Education for consideration at its Sept. 5 meeting. Supp. Bob J. Davis said. Announcement of the teachers' favorable vote was made by Mrs. Shirley Stahl, president of Local 743. Tentative agreement had been reached Wednesday night, with specific salary schedule figures agreed upon at a meeting Thursday.

Negotiators for the federation were led by Russell Chappell, while Harold Hillmer served as the school district's spokesman. Those negotiating for Community Unit District Nine included two school board members.

The agreement is in response to a pay reopening clause in the second year of a two-year pact, July 1977-June 1979, between the school system and teachers.

No other agreements with District Nine employees expired this year.

Store robbed

The Farm Fresh Dairy Store at 2828 Nameoki Road was robbed by a gunman with a stocking over his head at 8:25 p.m. Friday and the bills from two cash registers were taken.

A clerk was working in the checkout island at the time. A youth in his late teens or early 20s entered with dark nylon hosiery over his head, displayed a small handgun and ordered, "Give me the money."

She opened the cash register nearest the entry doors and gave him currency from the drawer. He then pointed the gun at the register on the other side of the island and she opened it and gave those bills to him.

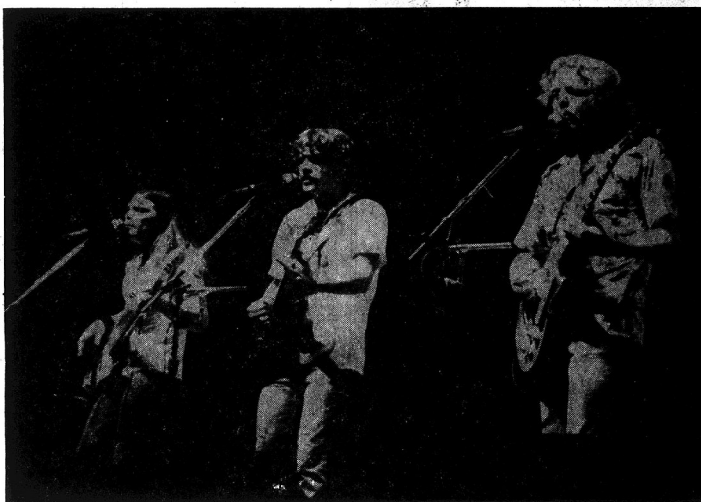

The robber stuffed the bills into his trouser pockets.

During the robbery, an 11-year-old girl in a nearby cookie aisle saw the gun and dropped a bag she was holding. The noise appeared to have startled the robber, who turned and pointed the gun at her momentarily.

"He kept telling the clerk to 'hurry,'" and appeared nervous. After putting the money in his pockets, the robber said, "Get down." He fled through the front door after accidentally dropping a $10 bill on the counter.

No vehicle was seen and it is believed he ran around the side of the building to the alley.

3-way race is upheld

The Madison County Elections Board ruled Friday that both Robert Barton (Republican) and Helen Hawkins (People for Helen Hawkins Party) may remain on the Nov. 7 ballot as candidates for the District 26 seat on the Madison County Board, opposing incumbent Louis Whitsell of Nameoki Township.

Whitsell had filed petitions challenging Mrs. Hawkins' legal ability to switch from the Democratic Party in the primary election to another party in the general election, while still retaining her Democratic precinct committee post in Nameoki Township.

Another petition from Whitsell challenged Barton's residency within the district. A third petition, filed by Mrs. Hawkins, also claimed Barton was not a resident of the district.

Barton swore under oath that he lived in Granite City for a short period of time during divorce actions, but that his permanent address is at 3104 Mockingbird Lane, where he once again lives.

The challenges were considered by the elections board Wednesday, which accepted evidence, testimony and motions by Mrs. Hawkins and attorneys for Whitsell and Barton, and took all questions under consideration before reaching its decision Friday.

The elections board is composed of Circuit Judge Horace L. Calvo, who was appointed by the chief justice of the Third Judicial District, and County Clerk Evelyn Bowles and Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron, by virtue of their offices.

The board's findings were written by Mrs. Hawkins and served as chairman at the hearing.

As to Barton's candidacy, the board found the nomination by the Republican party "in proper form and filed within the time and under the conditions required by law. Said certificate of nomination is genuine and represents accurately the decision of the convention issuing it. "Said certificate of nomination is valid, and the objections filed thereto by Louis Whitsell and Helen M. Hawkins are not sustained."

Whitsell said the nomination papers are in proper form, were filed within the time requirements, "are genuine and valid, and the objections filed thereto by Louis Whitsell are not sustained."

Vice didn't stop, grand jury told

Gambling and prostitution continued to plague Madison long after he left the police department, Ronald Grzywacz said during grand jury testimony last September in Springfield.

One of three persons convicted last month of racketeering and perjury, Grzywacz had been questioned extensively in front of grand jurors regarding his past activities as a city policeman and also as an unofficial aide to the Madison County sheriff department.

After being elected to the Madison City Council, he told confronting other officials with continued law violations, which investigators seemed to take an unnecessarily long time to verify. Part of the testimony follows:

MR. ROWE: "Did you ever arrest Norma Bosworth?"

A: "On several occasions."

MR. ROWE: "What were the charges?"

A: "Anywhere from disorderly conduct to aggravated assault."

Q: "Did you ever take any money from her?"

A: "No sir, I didn't." Q: "Did you ever see her pay any other police officer?"

A: "No sir, I didn't."

A: "No sir."

Q: "Did you ever hear she paid any other police officers?"

A: "She has made statements that she paid all of us."

Q: "How about Gocian, Patrolman Gocian, he is a friend of yours, isn't he?"

A: "Yes."

Q: "Did you ever see him get any money from any tavern owner?"

A: "I did on one occasion, but it was supposed to be on a horse bet."

Q: "Would you tell us about that?"

A: "We had stopped in on our rounds at Big Jen's Tavern and Big Jen handed an

Trial errors alleged

A hearing is scheduled on Friday to hear a request for a new trial by three former Madison policemen, Richard Krieschok, Edward Gocian and Ronald Grzywacz. They were convicted July 5 of racketeering and perjury related to activities in the city.

Procedural errors and inclusion of irrelevant evidence in their trial are alleged.

The three contend that "numerous statements of both witnesses and non-witnesses containing favorable comments and information were not turned over to defendants until late in the afternoon on the Friday prior to the Monday trial date. Defendants were deprived of the ability to fully analyze, investigate and follow through on the leads obtained from said statements in time for trial. Nevertheless, the court denied defendants' motions for a continuance in order to allow such additional pre-trial preparation.

"Additionally, other information falling within the ambit of Brady v. Maryland, supra, and Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972), particularly information relating to promises of leniency and other consideration given to government witnesses—was not made known prior to the date of trial and, consequently, not within sufficient time to allow the defendants to prepare for trial and cross-examination of said witnesses based on such information."

Regarding the Grzywacz-Young recorded conversation, the motion said, "There was no need for the use of transcripts in that the tape itself was clear and easily understood, and the use of said transcripts placed undue emphasis on the contents thereof."

"The court also erred in permitting the government to delete from statements of witnesses tendered to the defendants pursuant to 18 U.S.C. 3500, significant portions of said statements which were needed by defendants to fully and completely cross-examine said witnesses, and defendants were thereby deprived of their

Front seats for elderly, handicapped Near schools—slow down, be watchful

Elderly and handicapped persons riding Bi-State Development Agency buses may find seating less of a problem, thanks to the installation of distinctive new multi-colored signs on all agency buses.

The signs request that younger, able-bodied Bi-State patrons reserve the front seats directly behind the driver for use by senior citizens and handicapped passengers.

The three-colored decals, which replace smaller window signs applied a year ago, read: "These seats are reserved for elderly and handicapped passengers. Your cooperation is appreciated." Bi-State Executive Director Barry M. Locke said public response to the program has been excellent in the past and he expects this response to continue.

"We are appealing to the courtesy of the vast majority in helping us implement this program to assist elderly and handicapped passengers," said Locke. "Although there is nothing 'mandatory' about our request, we have found that the signs are an effective reminder to other patrons who can more easily reach a seat farther back in the bus."

Locke said posting of the signs is another step in Bi-State's program to provide improved transit services for elderly and handicapped persons.

Anyone over age 65 or with a mental or physical handicap is eligible for an identification card permitting him or her to ride any of the 161 regular service routes at reduced fares.

Card holders can ride for 10 cents at all times, except during weekday rush hours (8 a.m. to 6 p.m.) when their fare is 15 cents, and they are not required to pay additional zone or transfer charges.

Scott fights storing more nuclear fuel

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott is actively opposing a proposal to increase the amount of radioactive waste that is stored at Commonwealth Edison's Zion nuclear power plant.

"Commonwealth Edison has asked the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission for permission to expand the amount of high-level radioactive spent fuel that can be stored at Zion from 800 bundles of fuel rods to 2118 bundles."

"This increased amount will be handled simply by squeezing the material closer together in the same pool of water," Scott said. The whole approach raises serious questions of safety, and even more serious questions of what Commonwealth Edison and the federal government intend to do with this material in the long run."

Scott asserted that while he is not opposed to nuclear power as such, he has been demanding a "coherent federal policy" on nuclear waste for over a year.

"I have had committees of Congress in Illinois to inspect major dump sites for nuclear waste, and I have testified at Congressional hearings in both Washington and Chicago on the crisis in nuclear waste management."

I am not about to let Commonwealth Edison and the NRC take another short-sighted approach by drastically increasing the amount of waste stored at Zion."

Commonwealth Edison filed a request for a technical amendment to the operating license for its Zion plant to allow the increased storage.

Under provisions of the Atomic Energy Act, the increase cannot take place without the permission of the NRC, which must give interested persons an opportunity to contest the amendment and to hold public hearings. Scott filed a request to intervene in the proceeding and asked that public hearings be held.

Slow down and keep your eyes open. That's the message for motorists traveling in and near school areas.

Drivers have the responsibility to be careful around schools and on roads and streets leading to them. There are two reasons why drivers must be extra careful.

Large numbers of children and adults are around schools before, during and after school hours. Motorists can find people on sidewalks and roadides, on streets and roads, on foot and on bikes, and in almost every sort of motorized vehicle.

Second, drivers cannot depend on what a child will do. A child may suddenly decide to cross the street without looking or thinking of danger. He may pop out from behind a parked car while chasing a ball, cat or another child. A bike rider could zoom out of nowhere and lose control of his bike right in front of a motorist.

Many motorists do not realize how long it takes to stop once they see a dangerous situation. If a motorist is traveling 20 mph on dry pavement, he'll go 40 to 45 feet from the time he spots the youngster until he can stop dead.

At 30 mph, the stopping distance is between 70 and 80 feet. At 40 mph, the stopping distance increases to 125 feet. Therefore, at 40 mph the driver will travel at least 80 feet farther before he can stop than he would at 20 mph.

Slick roads, faulty brakes and tires, and a day-dreaming driver also increase stopping distances.

Motorists must be alert for school buses. Illinois law states that Illinois drivers—both oncoming and following—must stop on two-lane roads and highways for school buses that are stopped, have lights flashing, and have the stop arm extended.

The same rule applies on four-lane roads where there is no dividing strip. However, vehicles do not have to stop for school buses on four-lane divided highways.

Parents delivering children or picking them up in cars create other hazards. Sometimes these parents give more attention to looking for their children than they do to driving.

Refresh your memory this school year with these safety tips:

—Observe speed limits when driving through school zones. Be prepared to slow down or stop.

—Watch for and obey crossing guards and school patrols.

—Drive with extra care in the vicinity of a school building when students are going to and from school and at lunchtime.

Look for children walking.

Elvis songs bring 'fantastic results'

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

"When Elvis Presley was alive, I would not have thought of doing his songs in my act. I reserved his songs for him and I didn't feel I could do them justice," Sam Brown, who plays at The Den, 2401 State St., commented after presenting his new Elvis act to a full house during the weekend.

"I was in Georgia when he died and it really broke me up. Someone like him. You just figured he would be there forever."

"People kept asking me to do some Elvis songs, but I just didn't want to try. Finally I started practicing some of his music and I practiced three months before I ever did any of his songs in public. The result was fantastic," Brown commented.

Brown has been using an Elvis section in his act regularly for three weeks and the customers have been quick to express their delight. "Isn't he fantastic? He even looks like Elvis," one woman told this reporter.

There are a lot of Elvis imitators in the entertainment world, but Sam Brown has one unique trait. He is a one-man show. Utilizing a rhythm-master machine which produces rhythm such as drums, bongos and other rhythm instruments, Brown switches his guitar work between lead guitar and rhythm guitar to produce the sound of a three-piece band, even though he is on the stage alone.

"I played with big bands and then with a four-piece band and then three, and then finally, I decided to try it myself. My wife joins me sometimes for a few songs, but mostly I work alone," Brown explains.

He recently returned from an engagement at the Landmark Hotel in Las Vegas and is building a growing number of fans in several cities.

One of his biggest drawing cards, besides talent, is variety and the ability to play requests. He has more than 100 songs "practiced and ready to go," if requested, his wife, Linda, said.

"I used to think Sam was having fun up there on stage, but I soon learned what hard work it is. Some nights I almost have to drag him out of here and drive him home, he is so tired," Linda continued.

Sam Brown is a Quad-City product. Although born in St. Louis, he has lived here since the fourth grade and graduated from Granite City High School.

"It was only after I got out of high school that I got a decent guitar. My grandfather played Merle Travis style and I would dream of playing like that. He tried to teach me, but I couldn't get the hang of it. After he died, I finally learned his style," Brown explained.

Brown soon was playing regularly for Chrysalis Gayle, Stan Hitchcock, the Kendalls and other country singers and groups, but his interests in music extended far beyond country and western. "That's what I like about playing alone and doing requests. It gets me into all kinds of different music," he said.

The Browns have two teenage children. Ricky, 14, is an Eagle Scout and plays the guitar, and Sondra, 13, is learning to play the drums. They live in Union.

In the daytime, Sam is a union electrician with 6,000 hours of trade school credit behind him, but at night, he is Elvis. Stan Hitchcock and hundreds of other singers and musicians.

"It is a thrill to make the audience forget their troubles and not think about anything but the music. To do that, I have to work as hard as I can."

"I may not be the world's greatest guitarist or singer, but I honestly don't think anyone could try any harder than I do. I try to give it everything I've got," Brown contends.

Sam Brown appears Thursday through Saturday nights at The Den with music beginning at 9 p.m.

SAM BROWN, shown here in an Elvis imitation at The Den, where he presents his one-man show nightly. Thursdays through Saturdays. Brown's act includes a variety of different types of music, but the Elvis impersonation was particularly popular last week with the first anniversary of the late singer's death.

No parental consent for abortions

The 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said Thursday at Chicago that it is unconstitutional to require parental consent for unmarried minors seeking abortions. A suit had named Cook County State's Attorney Bernard Carey and state officials.

The three-member panel said, "The delay involved in first trying to obtain parental consent, followed by the delay inherent in any judicial proceeding, is unquestionable."

"It might force the minor into either a second-trimester abortion, which is more dangerous and expensive, or into not having an abortion at all if the second trimester has expired."

BICYCLIST ASSAULTED
Donald Rogers, 1877 Pontoon Road, suffered large bruises when he was beaten along Pontoon Road by another youth at 8 p.m. Thursday. He said he was riding his bicycle when a youth called him a name and he yelled something back. The youth caught up with him at Mitchell Avenue, pulled him off his bicycle and struck him repeatedly until someone in a auto stopped to help and the youth fled. Rogers was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment.

EOC Head-Start classes to use Dunbar School

The Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission will be permitted to use part of the Dunbar School Annex to conduct a full-schedule head-start program during the 1978-79 school year, the Madison Board of Education agreed in a regular meeting Thursday night.

The School Board will allow the EOC to use three classrooms, two rest rooms and to share the cafeteria in the annex. John Palchiff, superintendent of schools, reported. The EOC Head-Start classes also will use part of the playground.

Palchiff said the EOC has agreed to provide all custodial work for the classrooms use in the program, and that EOC will provide adequate insurance to indemnify the district against any liability that might grow out of use of the district's property.

The Madison School District is to work out an arrangement with EOC to provide meals that may be purchased on a per-student cost, or furnished free to be reimbursed by the state.

Board members authorized Larry Miller of the Madison High School to attend a driver education workshop to be held at Belleville Junior College Aug. 30.

The board was informed that Gov. James Thompson has signed a bill which amends the School Code dealing with legal school holidays.

Palchiff explained that a section of the bill makes it mandatory for the school district to comply with the federal law in setting a date for observance of Memorial Day. This means the observance next year will be on May 29 instead of May 30, Palchiff said.

Closings at Alton locks

The 360 foot auxiliary lock of Locks and Dam No. 26, Alton, will be closed for intermittent periods beginning Thursday. Closures are anticipated to occur during daylight hours for 14 consecutive days through Sept. 6.

The 600-foot main Alton lock will remain open for vessel traffic during the period; however, a 12-hour closure of the main lock is anticipated on about Sept. 7.

The closures are required in order to accomplish underwater surveys of the locks. Full cooperation of vessel owners and operators is requested to minimize overall delay of vessel traffic. James A. Petersen, chief, Operations Division, St. Louis Engineer Corps District, said.

Display of prison art

A prison art show featuring the work of offenders serving time in institutions operated by the Illinois Department of Corrections will be held Saturday and Sunday in Hatheway Hall at Lewis and Clark Community College, Godfrey.

Corrections Director Charles J. Rowe said the exhibit — the first of its kind to be held in this area — is being sponsored by the agency in cooperation with college officials.

Paintings, ceramics, woven rugs, macramé and leather items will be on display and available for sale to the public inside the front entrance to Hatheway Hall between the hours of 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Saturday and from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The agency will sponsor another exhibit later this year in Ottawa, in LaSalle County. Rowe said the department's decision to sponsor prison art shows was held last year in Springfield.

Quell disturbances with three arrests

Three men were arrested after police broke up what they described as a group which caused problems on at least four separate occasions in Granite City Saturday night.

Responding to several disturbance calls during the night, officers alleged talking those responsible to leave and go to their homes on four occasions, including two at a hamburger restaurant.

Later, a group formed in the parking lot of Belmore Village Shopping Center and were allegedly yelling at passing motorists.

Police again told them to leave and go home, but they refused, despite several warnings they would be arrested, it was reported by police.

Police then arrested one and alleged a second, young man continued yelling at officers, saying he was not going to be arrested. When he pulled away from an officer force was used to get him in the squad car, police alleged.

A third man continued to say things to officers and he was arrested. It was related. Two others then left peacefully.

Charged with disorderly conduct were Darren L. Stalford, 28, of 2123 Nevada Ave., Jerry A. Ryan, 19, of 2219 Missouri Ave., and Steve R. Curless, 19, of 2411 Missouri Ave. Ryan also had been issued a ticket alleging careless driving from one of the earlier disturbances, officers related.

envelope supposedly at the time—I didn't know what it was. But since the investigation came out, I did ask him about it and if there was money in the envelope, and he said he had given him $50 to put on his horse. He had a race horse running at Fairmount.

Q: "Was he your riding partner, Goclan, for the night shift?"
A: "Him or Lieutenant Krieschok."
Q: "Would it have been money or something either or both of them to have received money and you not be aware of it?"
A: "It's possible."

Q: "That is, you were not together during the course of the evening?"
A: "When you mean riding partners, we were all in separate cars, but these were the guys I worked with."
Q: "Did you ever take any money or receive any money or anything of value from the Starlite Tavern in Madison?"
A: "Probably a bottle of whiskey, and that's a thing that went on all the time."

Q: "We got a bottle of whiskey or a case of beer at Christmas?"
A: "How about Buzz's Tavern, did you ever receive any money or anything of value from Buzz's Tavern?"

A: "The same thing goes there, like you would get a case of beer or whiskey."
Q: "No money?"
A: "No money."

Q: "Did you ever receive any money or anything of value from Jerry's Tavern?"
A: "Jerry's Tavern?"
Q: "Ever heard of that in Madison?"
A: "I probably did. They change every month."

Q: "The name would change?"
A: "There's 38 taverns in the City of Madison and they are out of business every month and somebody else is going."

Q: "It's possible. I'm not going to say. There might have been a Jerry's Tavern." A: "Probably did. They change every month."

Q: "Did you ever take any money from any tavern?"
A: "In the City of Madison, no sir."

Q: "These two detectives in Madison, Bargiel and Voloski?"
A: "Yes sir."

Q: "Did you ever have any conversations with them about money and tavern owners?"
A: "No, they were told there was gambling going on and prostitution. If I might relate a little story, after I left the police department and the sheriff's department was all over, I ran for office as an alderman in the City of Madison because of my hate of politics being involved in the police department in Madison."

Q: "I ran as an alderman and walked door to door and explained my situation, that these two detectives you mentioned had told everybody in town I had taken payoffs."

Q: "I explained my position to the public in my yard and won the election, but these two guys are my problem in Madison as far as labeling me as a bagman. I think Paul Bargiel and Voloski—"

Q: "Why did they do that?"
A: "They were scared I was going to get ahead of them."

Q: "You think they were taking payoff?"
A: "I can't say that they were, but they knew about the prostitution and gambling going on, and your investigators or detectives should have more say-so than the patrol division."

Q: "We had words over this. That's why I'm saying that. I felt it was their job to stop it and not ours."

Q: "Later in the exhibit:"
Q: "At the time Maeras asked you to assist him on the investigation, what was your rank on the police department?"

A: "I was a sergeant."

Q: "And at that time what officers would have had higher rank on the department, for example the two detectives you mentioned?"

A: "Bargiel and Voloski and Krieschok and Ed Sabatoka and three other sergeants."

Q: "Why would he have selected you over a higher officer?"

A: "I worked with John on the night shift the last two years before he ran for sheriff."

Q: "Who was your immediate supervisor on the Madison Police Department?"

A: "At that time, Lieutenant Krieschok."

Q: "But he had no knowledge of your activities in this investigation?"

A: "No sir. I would like to add one more thing if I may into that conversation. After I became an alderman, I went to the mayor and to the other aldermen and I told them that I had been around the taverns at Fairmount."

Q: "And I said that there was prostitution going on in town in 1977. I said that there was gambling going on, and I named the taverns."

Q: "And I asked the mayor in front of the aldermen why wasn't something being done about this. I said that several years back, I was condemned for prostitution and gambling going on, and he told me at the time his detectives were working on it."

Q: "I've been a policeman a long time and it don't take six weeks to get information on prostitution and gambling."

RE-EXAMINATION BY MR. WEILAND:
Q: "Are these the same taverns?"

A: "The names change but it's the same ones. The biggest offenders are the same offenders."

Q: "Which taverns are those?"
A: "Prostitution could be Buzz's Tavern, Mickie's Tavern, and it is the Stadium Club now. It used to be Norma Bosworth's tavern."

Q: "We understand Norma Bosworth's tavern was closed and there was a period of time there that she was having difficulty in being permitted to sell it and leave it behind. Do you have any knowledge about that?"

A: "I think it was the mayor that had something to do with it. There was a shooting or stabbing, is why she was closed."

Q: "A what?"
A: "If shooting or stabbing is why she was closed. They wouldn't let her sell the property or sell the lease or something."

Q: "Do you know Minnie Brown?"
A: "Yes I do."

Q: "Did she ever pay you any money in order to be able to operate a tavern?"

A: "No, no. I know anything about her having paid anybody in Madison to be able to operate her tavern without any kind of police problems?"

Q: "Do you know anything about her having paid anybody in Madison to be able to operate her tavern without any kind of police problems?"

A: "No sir, I thought she was one of the straight people we had."

Q: "I'm not saying she isn't. I'm just asking."

A: "That was my reasoning."

Q: "Just a couple of more questions, sir. The grand jurors were interested in whether or not you had any information regarding this judge Gitchoff you referred to."

Q: "Do you know, for example, how the process worked whereby that particular owner was able to get protection from the judge?"

A: "Like I said, I could sit here approximately for a week and talk to you about the investigation on this thing."

Q: "It got out of hand, but through the course of my investigation I feel that I was onto something bigger than the deputies when I quit my investigation."

Q: "I feel John Cooper or Gary Burns, somewhere in the higher up in the police department, was running a middle man in the court system. I feel this."

A: "I don't know. That is the name I had been familiar with. Cooper and his were buddy buddies."

Q: "Did you hear names of local prosecutors as possibly being involved?"

A: "Portelli's name has been brought up, but he's not a prosecutor."

Q: "He's a clerk?"
A: "Clerk of the Circuit Court."

Q: "Were there occasions when you would ride together with Goclan and the lieutenant in one car?"

A: "Yes sir, there would be if someone's car was broken down, we would have to double up."

Q: "At times did all three of you ride together?"

A: "No, we have met together. The lieutenant usually drove his own car."

Q: "If there was one car short, a sergeant and patrolman would work one car and the lieutenant would work his own car."

new store at Interstate 270 and Bellefontaine Road, just across the river in Missouri.

The Baskin-Robbins firm now has more than 2,000 franchised stores in the United States, Canada, Belgium and Japan.

Working together in the store, Robert and Becky Jones have been commended for training and employing students in need of work-study programs.

The couple personally teaches the young people different aspects of the business, including decorating the lavish ice cream cakes offered at the store.

Many high school students also are part-time employees of the store, working during the summer months and after school hours.

The local Baskin-Robbins store recently received the coveted "golden scoop" award for an all-ice-cream, heart-shaped dessert created by Mrs. Jones.

The recipe for the dessert has been published in Baskin-Robbins' national publication, which is issued to all franchised stores here and abroad.

Only three "golden scoop" awards were presented in the United States.

Two years ago, the American Village store won first prize for the best Christmas display window among 22 Baskin-Robbins stores in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

The couple resides on Stratford Lane. The Jones have four daughters, Lisa, 11, and Andrea, eight.

John graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He was a real estate salesman in the Godfrey-Wood River area before purchasing the Baskin-Robbins store here.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jones are members of the school district's Career Advisory Council.

The local Baskin-Robbins store owners also sponsor a Little League Baseball team in the major division, which plays at Memorial School.

A special celebration is planned Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 25-26-27, to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the Granite City store, Jones said.

"We'll have the Baskin-Robbins' clown and will offer prizes to people registering at the store during the three-day period," he added.

Check other suspect in rape case, family urges

Another suspect should be more thoroughly investigated, according to relatives of Jerry L. McCabe, 24, sentenced Aug. 15 to serve 20 years in prison on a Feb. 27 rape case and five years for armed violence in connection with the case.

The family defends McCabe as blameless and says a suspect with a similar auto more nearly meets the physical description of the man whom authorities sought.

Although prodded by the family to learn more about the other suspect, authorities appear uninterested, an aunt of McCabe said Friday.

Hair, height, weight and other aspects of the description of the suspect.

Bakalis against rent bans on young children

Michael J. Bakalis, Democratic nominee for governor, last week called for enactment of legislation to end rental housing discrimination against families with children throughout Illinois.

Speaking at the first of three news conferences in a statewide "Hyaround," Bakalis said prejudice against couples with young children is widespread, and that the rapidly-increasing cost of purchasing a home compounds the problem.

"This type of discrimination is a double-edged sword," Bakalis declared. "On the one hand, young couples with children are finding it increasingly difficult to obtain suitable rental housing because their children are, as often as not, unwelcome in the eyes of prospective landlords."

"But if such couples attempt to resolve their dilemma by purchasing a home, they find the cost so prohibitive that they are unable to arrange adequate financing."

Bakalis said studies of rental advertising have shown that one landlord in six does not want tenants with children under 14 years of age and that such discrimination is apartment rentals is not limited to any particular area.

"In 1970, half of all families in this country could afford to buy their homes. Today, the average price of a new home in the Chicago metropolitan area is upwards of $60,000, with average family income in the $16,000 to $17,000 range. As a result, in 1976, only one family in four is capable of making such an investment," the candidate asserted.

"What we have seen in the past eight years is an increase in the price of new housing of 89 percent on an average. This has come at a time when, according to the U.S. Bureau of the Census, 25 to 34-year-olds constitute the fastest-growing group in the population."

"In 1965, only eight million households were identified in this age group. But, by 1985, it is expected that the number will increase to 22 million households."

"It is this group that is most in need of decent housing for their growing families, and most often finds it difficult or impossible to obtain that housing owing to the presence of children in their families."

Under existing state law, landlords may not refuse housing to couples with one child below the age of 14. However, a landlord has the legal right to refuse to rent to couples with more than one child under age 14.

"The problem with the present statute is twofold," Bakalis said. "First, the maximum penalty under the law is a fine of $100. Second, at least half the state's attorneys surveyed in Illinois' 102 counties appear to be unaware of the statute exists. Two-thirds of these offices have indicated they lack the manpower and resources to investigate and otherwise enforce the law."

House Bill 1985 would be reintroduced in the fall session of the General Assembly. It died in subcommittee this spring.

Bakalis said he will add further teeth to the proposal by amending it to provide for revocation of the licenses of realtors guilty of practicing such discrimination.

Additional charge filed

Granite City police Thursday added a charge of aggravated assault to charges already pending against Robert L. Riley, 29, of 215 Illinois Ave., stemming from an incident Wednesday night.

A co-defendant in that case, Howard W. Richter, 32, of the same address, pleaded guilty Thursday to a disorderly conduct charge and was fined $35.

The two men were arrested during a disturbance at West 22nd Street and Illinois Avenue after four men alleged Riley had fired two shots at them with a pistol.

They said words were exchanged between themselves and the two men in Riley's auto and when some passengers in their car got out and approached Riley's car, a shot allegedly was fired at them.

They alleged Riley's car then left the scene, but struck a parked car. Another shot was fired at them and the vehicle left the scene, they told police.

Riley was charged with discharging a firearm in the city limits, disorderly conduct and leaving the scene of an accident, with the aggravated assault charge added Thursday.

O'Neal on committee

Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal of Belleville has been elected to the executive committee of the National Conference of Lieutenant Governors at a meeting in New Orleans.

The executive committee sets all business and policy proposals for the NCLG. Membership on the group can lead to being named chairman of the conference.

Meeting in area on use of Illinois coal

The Illinois Energy Resources Commission will meet at the Lewis & Clark Restaurant, East Alton, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday, Aug. 25, to consider actions it may take in connection with Commonwealth Edison's switch from Illinois to Western coal at its Power generating station.

Commission Chairman Joe Lucco (D-Edwardsville) said, "The Power situation is the most important energy issue facing Illinois, and it also has national ramifications."

"Now it's up to the governor to decide from testimony at the recent public hearings whether Commonwealth Edison's decision to cease burning Illinois coal at Powerdown would mean economic disruption or unemployment within Illinois."

"If he decides that it would, the U.S. Clean Air Act gives the governor, with the consent of the president, the power to order Commonwealth Edison to continue using high-sulfur Illinois coal, despite existing federal air pollution regulations restricting its use."

At hearings held throughout the state, ending July 13 in Springfield, coal, union and railroad executives and members of the Illinois Energy Resources Commission were among those testifying that serious economic hardships would result if the Chicago-area utility ceased burning 4.5 million tons annually of Illinois coal at its Powerdown plant.

Commonwealth Edison officials at the hearings said the decision to stop burning Illinois coal was brought on by federal regulations which impose a mandatory fine on the utility if it does not comply by July 1, 1979.

Lucco said, "At the national level, President Carter has announced a policy calling for increased use of the nation's coal reserves to reduce our dependence on foreign oil. Cutting back on use of Illinois coal, as at Powerdown, seriously weakens this policy."

Commission members will visit area energy facilities in connection with their meeting Friday. They will tour Illinois Power Company's Wood River Station from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Friday.

They also will visit Central Illinois Public Service Company facilities at Newton from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday and will visit the oil drilling rig near Olney of Commission Member Donald E. Schmitt from 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Pageant planning begins

Preliminary plans are underway for the local Junior Miss Pageant scheduled for November this year. This will be the first pageant of its kind to be held in Granite City. Pamela Tester, Granite City's reigning Junior Miss, will act as general chairman for this year's pageant.

The local Junior Miss activity is part of a nationwide scholarship program to encourage excellence in all young people by recognizing the achievements of high school senior girls. The program began in 1958 with 50 girls from 18 states participating. The program has steadily grown. Today thousands of girls in all 50 states compete for the Junior Miss title.

"In the past decades, the Junior Miss program has earned the respect and support of religious, educational and civic leaders throughout the nation," Miss Tester said. "It is a scholarship program based on high standards and ideals, and should not be confused with bathing-beauty contests."

The competition will be based on four areas: scholastic achievement, poise and appearance, youth fitness and creative and performing arts. There is no swimsuit competition.

The Junior Miss Program offers an opportunity for scholarships for college. Total scholarships and awards offered on the national, state and community levels were more than $5 million last year, Miss Tester said.

Granite City's winner will represent the community in the state Junior Miss finals at Bolingbrook, Ill., in January. The 50 state winners will compete for the America's Junior Miss crown and the $15,000 scholarship to the college of her choice to be awarded at the 21st annual national finals at Mobile, Ala., next May.

Miss Tester has invited any senior girl in the Granite City area to take part in the 1978-79 Junior Miss competition. Applications may be obtained by contacting anyone on the Junior Miss committee: Pam Tester, 797-0475; Judi Sparks, 881-8382; Cheryl Crawford, 451-4884; Carolyn Yates, 931-0849; or Gary Embick, 451-7912.

National sponsors of the Junior Miss program are Breck, Kodak, Kraft, Simplicity

Federal tax curb asked by Jarvis

Howard Jarvis, a leader of the Proposition 13 tax curb vote in California, called Thursday for a 20 percent cut in the federal personal income tax over a four-year period.

He would allocate two percent of each year's federal budget to reduce the national debt, and would index taxes so they wouldn't rise for anyone whose pay raise was offset by inflation.

Jarvis's American tax reduction movement would set an unspecified absolute limit on the percentage of the Gross National Product that could be collected in federal taxes. And he favors abolishing the capital gains tax on investments, as a way of creating jobs.

Ernest Howard, 42, dies

Ernest Waldo Howard, 42, of Eldon, Mo., a native of Venice and former long time resident here, died early Sunday morning while on holiday in Chattanooga, Tenn., following an apparent heart attack.

He leaves several relatives and many friends in the Quad-Cities.

Mr. Howard was retired on disability from the Illinois Terminal Railroad, where he was employed as a switchman about 18 years. He had lived in Eldon for the past three or four years.

Born in Venice, he attended school there and was a member of Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307 and the Venice Baptist Church.

He was a U.S. Army veteran, having served during the Korean Conflict. He had resided in Granite City about 10 years before moving to Eldon.

Mr. Howard had been released Friday from a Jefferson City, Mo. hospital, where he was a patient one week.

He and his wife, the former Carol Worthen, were staying at the Holiday Inn in Chattanooga, when Mr. Howard was suddenly stricken.

Beide his wife, Mr. Howard is survived by a son, Mark Anthony Howard, 14, at home; a daughter, Cindy Howard of Eldon; two brothers, Robert L. Howard of Granite City and Russell Howard of East Alton; three sisters, Mrs. Jessie Lentz of Collinsville, Mrs. Tressie Ellep of Caseyville and Mrs. Margie Blake of Gardena, Calif.; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Ann Howard of Granite City; and several nephews and nieces.

Preceding him in death were his parents, the late Robert Thomas and Lee Effie Howard of Venice, twin brothers, Earl and Merl Howard, both of Granite City, and a sister, Mrs. Callie Alvey of St. Louis.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

Committee to study cable tv

A special committee of three Granite City aldermen to investigate the feasibility of installing cable television here was appointed last week by Mayor Paul Schuler.

The committee includes Aldermen Clyde Boyd of the Third Ward, Margaret Nenn of the Fifth Ward and Everett Morien of the First Ward. Boyd is to serve as chairman.

The committee was named following recent discussions by City Council members of a cable television program. A cable television plan was dropped several years ago because of the cost factor.

Mayor Schuler also appointed a new council Safety Committee made up of Alderman Earl Baker of the Sixth Ward, as chairman, and aldermen Lloyd Bailey of the Fifth Ward and Glen Sprankle of the Fourth Ward.

Council members concurred in the appointments. The council also confirmed an appointment by Mayor Schuler of Ray E. Jones as an employee of the sewage treatment plant.

Lutheran high school ready for second year

(Lutheran High School Association)

The Metro-East Lutheran High School Association gives praise to God for the blessings that He showered upon the school during its first year of operation.

It is with faith and confidence that the new school moves forward into the future. The board of directors and staff express thanks to the area churches and their members for their support and cooperation, both past and present.

We would like to share with you where we are and where we are going. During our first year of operation, the 1977-78 school year, God showered many blessings on us for which we give thanks. Some of the highlights of those blessings include:

The members of St. Paul Lutheran Church who allowed us to use their facilities on an interim basis to start the school, and the members of Concordia in Granite City who were willing to do the same.

A God-fearing, dedicated, hardworking and competent staff.

A group of freshman students who had the faith to help us begin a Lutheran High School dedicated to the glory of God.

The many individuals, churches, organizations and businesses who through their sharing of God's blessings allowed us to equip the school and operate it with a balanced budget.

Some of those who blessed our new mission for young people during this past year include: Various Aid Association for Lutherans branches, members of St. John's Lutheran Church in Granite City, Ladies Aid and Lutheran Women's Missionary League groups in several churches, the chicken dinners by the Collinsville American Legion Post and others.

This past year has seen the formation of an Auxiliary Association to assist and promote the total educational program of the school; a Prayer Part-

July fire loss set at $117,475

Granite City firemen responded during July to 66 alarms that involved total fire loss of $117,475, according to a report by Fire Chief Donald Parente.

Parente said fire calls included 14 in building fires, 11 for motor vehicle fires, 10 rubbish and weed fires, four inhalator and rescue calls, six false alarms and 20 others.

Estimated loss by fire in buildings was $31,060, he said. Loss to contents was estimated at $29,275 and loss to motor vehicles was estimated at $6,550, for the total of $117,475.

Improved access at Parks airport

The Bi-State Development Agency Board of Commissioners has decided to accept a newly-announced grant from the Federal Aviation Administration for improvement of facilities at the agency's Bi-State Parks Airport near Cahokia, in western St. Clair County.

The total project cost is $714,600, of which approximately $297,500 will be provided by contributions from both Bi-State and the Illinois Department of Transportation, Division of Aeronautics.

These funds will be used to construct and light a new access road, relocate an electrical transmission line, reimburse Bi-State for the cost of access for general aviation users' air charter and air taxi services," Locke comments.

"Acquisition of the additional land for runway approach zone protection will assure that land adjacent to the airport remains undeveloped by high-rise or industrial projects which could obstruct the runway."

The grant, acquired through the Federal Airport Development Aid Program, will allow Bi-State Parks Airport to complete a major portion of its overall development plan, which was originally prepared in April 1977. As a result, aircraft parking facilities will increase by 70 percent from 100 spaces to 170 spaces.

This parking area will be linked to the existing airport facilities by the new airport access road and, eventually, to the new terminal building and railroad overpass included in a recent grant application forwarded to the U.S. Economic Development Agency.

Bi-State Executive Director Barry M. Locke has stressed that the improved access to Parks Airport facilities being provided by the FAA grant is essential for the airport's continued growth as a regional general aviation facility.

"It will enable it to continue to serve as the second busiest aviation center in the metropolitan area, with services for general aviation users' air charter and air taxi services," Locke comments.

All phases of this project are expected to be completed by December 1978.

Work currently in progress at Bi-State Parks Airport under a prior FAA grant is also scheduled for December completion. That project provides funding for all the instrument landing equipment necessary to accommodate major air carrier activity, including an approach light system, a glide slope, and a middle marker.

Locke concluded, "The instrument landing system, funded and operated by the FAA upon completion of site preparation by Bi-State, will increase the airport's runway safety factor and make the airport increasingly attractive to future aviation and related development."

Senior citizens to visit zoo, museum

The Tri-City Area YMCA and the Area Agency on Aging are sponsoring a one-day trip to the St. Louis Zoo, the Salad Bowl Restaurant and the Museum of Science and Natural History.

Two buses will be available for the trip Thursday, Aug. 31, and will depart from the First United Presbyterian Church at 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue at 8:30 a.m.

The trip is being provided through Area Agency on Aging funding.

All costs will be met except the noon meal of $3.50, payable by the participant at the time of registration.

Registrations for individuals or couples will be accepted only from the persons signing up. For example, one person can sign for as many as two people for the trip.

The office will accept registration from 8:30 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 24, and on following days.

YMCA senior citizen activities are geared for "active people over 60."

GC musician aids symphony

Varied events have been planned by the Women's Association of the St. Louis Symphony Society to celebrate their annual "Symphony Week," scheduled this year for Aug. 28 to Sept. 1, according to Mrs. Richard Wolheim, chairman of the festivities.

Symphony Week precedes the week of Sept. 3, when the orchestra will make its first European appearance at the famed Athens Festival in Greece.

Participants in the "Week" will include Miss Robin Robertson of Granite City, a member of the Youth Orchestra bassoon ensemble.

Lighting law for tractors on highways

The slow moving vehicle emblem must be used on farm tractors operated on public highways in Illinois.

Prior to Oct. 1, 1973, use of the SMV emblem was voluntary. It is now mandatory.

Red flags are no longer required on farm machinery. If a tractor is on a public road at night, flashing amber lights are required.

The law requires that the SMV emblem be mounted with the point up on the rear of all slow moving vehicles.

If the SMV emblem on the towing unit is not blocked by the towed unit or its load, the emblem may be mounted on either the towed or the towing unit or both.

If the towed unit or its load partially or totally blocks the SMV emblem on the towing unit, the emblem must be mounted on the rear of the towed unit.

Any time farm equipment is operated after sundown or in inclement weather on a public road, the equipment must meet the regular lighting code in addition to the flashing amber light. The code stipulates that the vehicle must have two white lights in front and two red lights on the rear of the vehicle. The lights must be visible for 1,000 feet.

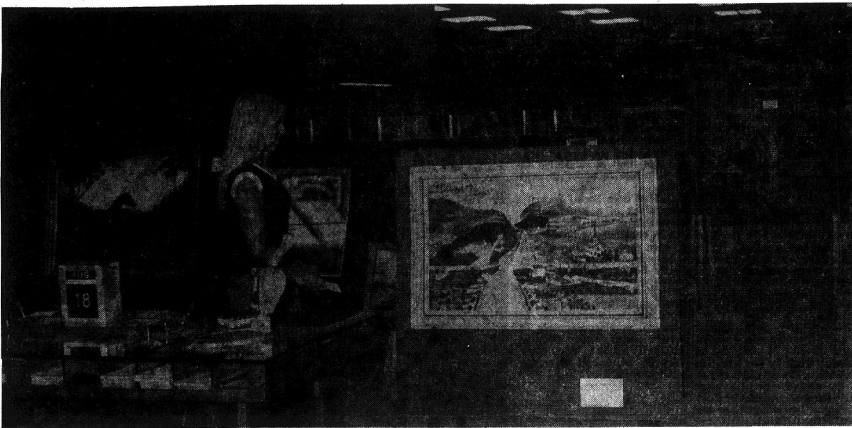

The SMV emblem is not to be used on the rear of a truck operated under its own power. However, if a truck is being pulled behind a tractor, a SMV emblem should be displayed on the rear of the truck.

The SMV emblem is intended as a safety device. The emblem may not be displayed in any manner other than described in the law. No advertising or other markings may appear on the emblem, the law stipulates.

HUSBAND IS ARRESTED

Mike Seley, 822 Washington Ave., was charged with unlawful use of a weapon and criminal damage to property after he allegedly shot and broke several windows during a disturbance at 8:35 p.m. Friday in the home which he is renting.

Windows in all rooms were broken or shot or one bullet was fired through the bedroom closet and full-length mirror on the door. Seley's wife and small child were in the house when the shots were fired, police said.

WORKS BY LOCAL ARTISTS on display in the lobby of First Granite City National Bank are examined by Wendy Kambarian of Granite City Friday. About 175 exhibits from 24 local artists are on

Woman's body found; had been shot twice

Madison County sheriff's deputies are attempting to determine the identity of a young black woman whose body was found beside Route 111 just north of Interstate 70 at 9:45 a.m. Sunday. She had been shot twice.

A 12-year-old Fairmont City boy who was about to go fishing in a pond at that location found the body and notified deputies. Madison County Deputy Coroner Paul Kassidy pronounced her dead at the scene at 10:20 a.m. Sunday and the body was taken to Collinsville.

She had been shot once in the back and once to the rear of her head, and was believed to have been in the field less than 24 hours, authorities said.

She is described as in her early 20s, about 5 feet, 6 inches tall, weighing about 130 pounds and having reddish-blond hair and a gold star-shaped filling in an upper front tooth.

She wore only orange shorts, sandals, a gold necklace with the letter R on it, a silver and turquoise bracelet and a silver ring with the shape of a lion on it.

Anyone having information which may help deputies identify the woman or solving the murder is requested to call the sheriff's department at 1-602-4433.

Madison activates new siren tonight

The City of Madison's new disaster warning siren, located on top of the Madison Memorial Center, at Seventh and Lee streets, will be activated between 6 p.m. and 7 p.m. Monday.

Mike Macek, supervisor of special projects in Madison, said the sound level of the newly installed warning signal will be checked during tonight's testing period.

A full scale test enabling Madison residents to learn the various signals — tornado warning, fire signal and disaster alert — is being planned, it was learned.

Extend corn, sorghum loans

Lee Rogers, executive director of the Madison County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office, has announced a 30-day optional extension of maturity dates on 1977 crop corn and grain sorghum loans. This one-month extension will allow farmers with these loans time to decide if they wish to participate in the three-year feed grain reserve program, he said.

This option applies to all 1977 crop loans for corn and sorghum. Producers must make the request for the one-month extension, he said. Rogers also announced that the availability date for new loans on 1977 crop corn and sorghum has been extended for reserve purposes only from May 31, 1978, to Sept. 29, 1978. This means that producers who have never taken a loan on 1977 crop corn or sorghum may now do so until Sept. 29 if they will immediately sign the loan into the three-year feed grain reserve program.

Prosecutors, victims in rape case named in lawsuit for $750,000

Richard Lee Knowles, 24, St. Louis, who is serving a 10-to-20-year prison term at Menard State Penitentiary in Chester for rape and deviate sexual assault, has filed suit against prosecutors for alienating him from his wife by what he terms an "unlawful conviction."

Knowles and his wife, Deborah, filed suit against Madison County Assistant State's Attorneys Don Weber and Stephanie Robbins and against the two young women who were raped under the old English common law charge of "alienation of affections," between the two.

Acting as their own attorneys, the Knowles couple filed a 12-page petition in the Third Judicial Circuit Court in Edwardsville which seeks new hearings on his convictions, alleging he was unlawfully tried twice for the same offense. The suit seeks a total of $750,000.

Knowles and two other men were first tried in February, 1977, on charges stemming from the rapes by nine men of two young St. Louis women on Chouteau Island Aug. 6, 1976, and the jury in that case was unable to reach a unanimous verdict and was declared a "hung jury."

May 3, 1977, another jury found all three guilty of rape and deviate sexual assault and in June of that year, Knowles was sentenced to Menard.

Knowles is appealing his conviction with the help of a court-appointed attorney, but decided to file the suit under the seldom-used alienation of affections charge.

The suit alleges that, as a result of actions by Weber, Stephanie Robbins and the two rape victims, Knowles and his wife have been held to public scorn and ridicule and have been denied the right to "share a home and other livelihoods together as husband and wife."

No date has been set for a hearing on the suit.

Arrest juveniles; find marijuana

Three youths were arrested for allegedly smoking marijuana in a parked car in an alley near Denver Street and Union Avenue at 8:10 p.m. Saturday.

Police were told three youths in a car were acting suspicious at that location and when they investigated, they smelled burning marijuana in the car.

The 15-year-old driver was charged with not having a driver's license and was taken to the Madison County Juvenile Detention Home, pending possible juvenile court action. Police also charged the boy's father with permitting an unlicensed person to drive a motor vehicle.

Two passengers in the car, ages 14 and 15, were arrested and were released to their parents on $3 bond each, pending possible court action.

2 on cycle hurt on McCambridge

A Madison couple was injured seriously when their motorcycle and a truck collided on Edwardsville Road at the Fina service station near McCambridge Avenue at 10:15 p.m. Friday.

Lewis Hackett, 25, and Barbara Elizabeth Hackett, 21, both of 1729 Market St., Madison, were reported in satisfactory condition this morning in Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, after being taken out of the intensive care unit.

The husband suffered injuries to his left arm and right lower leg, and Mrs. Hackett suffered injuries to her right leg and thigh and an abrasion to her right arm. Broken bones were suspected, so X-rays were taken at St. Elizabeth Hospital and were transferred with the couple to the St. Louis hospital to be read by doctors there.

Jerry Bennett, the driver of the truck, was charged with not having a driver's license and with failure to yield the right-of-way to the motorcycle. Madison County sheriff's deputies alleged Bennett's eastbound vehicle turned left into the service station in front of the westbound cycle.

County jail fire disrupts power

An electrical short-circuit caused an electrical fuse box to catch fire in a rear reception area of the Madison County Jail at 5:20 p.m. Friday, but deputies were able to extinguish the flames with a fire extinguisher without disrupting any prisoners, a spokesman said.

The fire interrupted electric service to the entire jail until about 8:30 p.m. when temporary repairs were completed. The Edwardsville Fire Department was called to the jail as a precaution, but the fire was extinguished prior to their arrival. It was related.

Deputies had to use a squad car's radio to dispatch calls, since the base radio equipment was without power, but the dispatchers used the sheriff's main office on Purcell Street as headquarters and all calls were immediately relayed to cars in the county, the spokesman reported.

Electricity was again turned off in the jail from 6:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. Sunday while permanent repairs to the wiring were made, he added.

The spokesman said a television accounting of the incident was "drastically overdue," and said statements made by jail trustees of prisoners being endangered by the fire were exaggerated.

Church records are relinquished

Records and assets were turned over to the new governing body by former officials of the Holy Trinity Bulgarian Orthodox Church in Madison in the Allen court of associated Judge John Day, who had scheduled a contempt of court hearing.

Ned Vassileff, attorney for a new church board, had sought transfer in compliance with a court-monitored transition at the church, scene of disagreements over procedures and the status of the Rev. Peter Stamboloff, pastor.

A court order for the records had followed action by Bishop

Simion of Akron, Ohio, to support the pastor and those favoring his retention.

Announced as transferred were a $10,000 certificate of deposit, petty cash, operating funds, bingo proceeds, bookkeeping records, the church seal and a postage stamp. A national fund was frozen until a later hearing, probably in September.

That hearing may be related to a suit by John R. Saraguse Sr. and James Hadjilov on behalf of former board members, who ask the new officials to show by what authority they are serving.

National drum-bugle corps title competition in region

Fifteen drum and bugle corps from seven states will compete Saturday in O'Fallon in an event jointly sponsored by the O'Fallon Chamber of Commerce, the O'Fallon Homecoming Association and the Bellettes Drum and Bugle Corps.

The contest will comprise the national championships for the Mid-America Drum and Bugle Corps Circuit, an association of 30 corps with home bases ranging from Florida to Wisconsin and Nebraska.

The competition is the main event of the O'Fallon homecoming fair, an annual festival featuring two parades, carnival rides, games and food.

Police halt fight Sunday

Three juvenile boys were arrested as police broke up a crowd of about 25 teenagers gathered around a fight at West 22nd Street and Ohio Avenue at 9:40 p.m. Sunday.

Officers said two youths in the middle of the crowd appeared to be fighting, a 14-year-old holding a red baseball bat and a 15-year-old swinging a three-foot club with exposed nails at the and end of the intensive care unit.

Teenagers around the two were encouraging them to hit each other, police reported.

The two arrested and the others were told to go.

All three juveniles, who were from the West Granite City area, were released. The 15-year-old posted $35 cash bond each and the younger boy was released on a notice to appear before juvenile authorities.

Ways to plan for retirement income

(Social Security Administration)

People concerned about having sufficient income to maintain their life styles through their retirement years should remember that only earnings after retirement, but not other forms of income, may affect receipt of their Social Security checks.

This means that the wise planner looking ahead should be considering whatever available resources he or she has that can be used to generate nonwork income in the future.

Such sources depend on one's current financial situation, but may include savings, investments, insurance or rental income.

Income from renting rooms to college students, for example, would usually not affect a retirement check, while the same amount of money earned by working at a part-time job could.

The fact that there is a limit on the amount of earnings a person may have and still draw Social Security benefits is confusing to many people.

And when they discover that the limitation does not include nonearned income, it becomes even less understandable.

There are several reasons for the earnings limitation and the manner in which it is applied. First of all, Social Security benefits are designed to partially replace earnings lost through retirement, death, or disability. If there has been no such reduction in earnings, then the individual is not considered retired, disabled, or dependent on the earnings of a retired, disabled or deceased person.

Secondly, Social Security was never designed to replace all of a person's earnings, but only part of them. The benefits are supposed to provide a base upon which people can build their own level of financial security through their own initiative and enterprise.

There would be less incentive to save and invest for the future if, by doing so, an individual risks losing the floor of protection provided by Social Security contributions.

If you do plan to work after retirement, you'll find that you can increase your income without losing all of your Social Security benefits. In 1978, the annual exempt amount of earnings is $4,000 for individuals 65 and over, and $3,240 for those under 65.

After reaching the earnings limit, Social Security benefits are reduced $1 for every $2 in excess earnings. At age 72, the earnings limit does not apply. The annual exempt amount is scheduled to continue to rise in future years. For a 65-year-old, it will be $4,500 in 1979, and for those under 65, the rise will parallel increases in average wage levels.

One thing to remember is that the monthly earnings test no longer applies except during the year in which a person starts receiving Social Security benefits.

Before the 1977 Social Security amendments, a person could receive a full Social Security check for any month in which he or she did not earn 1-12 of the annual exempt amount ($334 for a 65-year-old in 1978) no matter how much he or she earned for the year.

Most of the 10 percent of those current beneficiaries whose benefits are reduced because of the retirement test have substantial earnings. They include people who for one reason or another continue to work — the self-employed, professionals, and others whose work is not too physically taxing.

The added income provides for the lifestyle they wish to maintain.

But if the prospect of working after retirement does not appeal to you, consider the ways in which you may build nonwork income. Talk to your banker, accountant or some other person whose financial advice you can trust. It could pay off for you in your retirement years.

Q. I married late and have two children both under 18. I understand that they'll be entitled to benefits, too, when I retire at age 65. Will their earnings affect my Social Security check?

A. No. Their earnings will only affect their Social Security benefits.

Q. Why doesn't the retirement test apply to people who are 72 and over?

A. If there were no age limit, people who work to a very advanced age would not receive any Social Security benefits even though they had paid into the system all their working years. For that reason, the upper age limit is set to provide equity to such workers. In 1982, the age limit is scheduled to drop to age 70 under present law.

Q. How does Social Security keep track of a beneficiary's earnings?

A. A beneficiary who expects to earn more than the annual exempt amount in a year should notify Social Security in advance so benefit payments may be adjusted. A report of earnings must then be filed by April 15 of the following year. In addition, employer reports of wages are automatically screened against beneficiary records at Social Security headquarters.

'Timid' plan hurts Illinois grain farmers

Reacting to last week's announcement by the Carter Administration of the 1979 wheat acreage set-aside program, Illinois Farm Bureau President Harold B. Steele labeled the program "timid" and called for the immediate announcement of an acreage set-aside program for feed grains.

Steele said his examination of details of the program shows it, "is, at best, a timid approach to solving the over production problems of American wheat farmers."

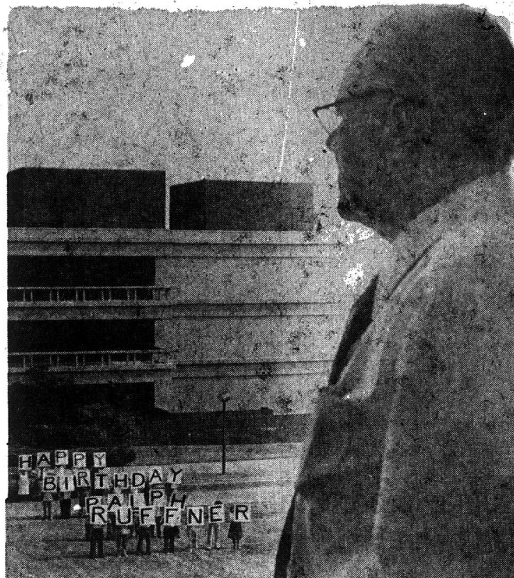

"The good news is that the target price and loan levels weren't increased, but the bad news is that the wheat set-aside program isn't aggressive and fails to add payment incentives to make the program more effective."

"Of all grain farmers, wheat producers have suffered most. Market prices have meant that many wheat producers are losing money again this year."

"The administration must take steps, and take them immediately, to roll back over-production of feed grains. An announcement of a 30 percent set-aside for 1979 would put feed grain buyers on notice that American farmers will not be over-producing next year, too, and will strengthen prices now."

"Today, buyers are benefiting from the predictions of another great corn crop. But if they knew now that American farmers will not over-produce next year, the incentive to buy now would be strengthened."

"Many Illinois grain farmers are facing another year when they will have to sell their crop below their cost of production. They need temporary programs to stop over-production and to bolster sagging prices."

Park pre-school registration is set Wednesday

The Granite City Park District will conduct Pre-School registration Wednesday, Aug. 23 beginning at 9 a.m. for the fall session beginning Sept. 18. Parents interested in enrolling their children in these classes must do so in person and present proof of residence, such as a current utility bill with their name and address on them and the child's birth certificate, officials said. A child must be 4 years old before Oct. 1, 1978, in order to qualify for these sessions.

Classes will be limited to 35 percent per class and enrollment will be on a first-come, first-serve basis. Three classes will start in Sept. and a new class will be formed in January for those children turning 4 years old before Feb. 1, 1979. That registration will be in December and time of registration will be announced later. Anyone living out of the Granite City Park District will be placed on a waiting list and will be notified on Sept. 18 if there are still openings, a spokesman said. Classes will meet at the Nameoki Recreation Center, Franklin and Amos Ave. with morning classes held from 9:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. and afternoon classes from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m. There is an insurance charge of $3 per child and a small fee for orange drink and cookies charged daily. "Putting up a home CB antenna? Play it safe, good buddy!"

Follow these nine safety rules stressed by experts in CB antenna installation:

1 (see lower right)

2 Don't assume that a line is a telephone or television cable line. Don't touch any lines.

3 Don't assume that power lines are insulated. Even if they are, don't touch them.

4 Don't do the work on a windy day. The wind can blow the antenna or tower into a power line.

5 Don't touch the antenna if it falls across a power line. Call Illinois Power Company.

6 Make certain that, should the antenna fall, it will not touch a power line. Step off the distance to the nearest line or use a measuring tape

7 Wear gloves that will insulate and rubber boots or rubber-soled shoes to lessen grounding.

8 Assemble the antenna close to the installation site. This will eliminate having to carry it near possible hazards.

9 Have enough manpower to prevent the antenna from toppling.

Whether it's for your Citizen's Band radio or your television set, any antenna installation is potentially hazardous. Call a professional installer and have the job done right—and safely.

Canoeing guide valuable

By ANDY LINDSTROM
SPRINGFIELD — Ben Franklin would be proud of the Illinois Canoeing Guide. Now in its fifth reprint since 1965, the free brochure published by the Department of Conservation is a wealth of practical advice for paddlers on the state's surprisingly numerous navigable waters. Along with a facilities map of state waterways, the guide can be obtained at the DOC's division of law enforcement here.

"The Big Muddy Canoe Trail runs through Shawnee National Forest," the guide notes in a typical passage. "Extreme care must be taken when camping at night during the season when the cottonmouths and copperheads are migrating."

A snake in the sack is bad news under any circumstances, but a migrating herd of vipers would definitely dampen anyone's weekend canoe trip.

Other mots in the spirit of Franklin's "Poor Richard's Almanack" include such insights as: "During migratory waterfowl season on the Illinois River, do not interfere with shooting areas. (Imagine paddling past a string of blinds filling the air with buckshot.)"

"Do not attempt to run the dam on the Fox River at Algonquin. Several canoeists have drowned here, a portage by hand is better in the drink."

Some bends of the South Vermilion River are so acute that a canoe may have trouble making the turns. It is a good idea to carry a pole for each paddler.

"The Rock River is an excellent stream and can be cruised while carrying a lunch, stopping overnight at a motel and eating breakfast and supper at restaurants in towns along the way."

Some of the upper portions of the Sangamon

River will not float an empty canoe.

"There are two Vermilion Rivers, so if you arrange a meeting place on the Vermilion, be sure to let the members of your group know which Vermilion."

Almost two dozen Illinois streams are described in the canoe guide. Some, like the Illinois-Mississippi Feeder canal, are safe and sane ribbons of water that offer little more than pretty scenery and hard paddling.

Others, like the treacherous Kankakee River and the commercially busy Illinois River, are dangerous to novice as well as expert.

"There are probably about 25,000 canoeists in the state," said Ken Gruenewald of the DOC division of law enforcement's special services section.

"We print 10,000 copies of the canoe guide at a throw. It is easily our best seller."

Late summer, early fall hunting requests

By ART SCHUMANN
Each year more hunters are using tree stands when hunting deer. Many carry portable stands for periodic use in the woods. While there are certain advantages in using the stands, there are disadvantages as well.

It's true that using the stand gives the hunter a better view of the surrounding area, is out of sight and scent of the deer and often offers a better shot at the animal. In fact, a hunter might even get two or three shots off, depending on whether he is using a bow and arrow or firearms.

However, to me, tree stands are too much of a burden in the field to begin with. They are generally heavy, cumbersome and awkward to carry for any significant distance. They take a lot of work to secure in place, and often, because of their nature and design, only can be used on certain trees, depending on their diameter or limb development. Often, the trees that can be used with the stand are located in the wrong place and may not even be present where the hunter plans to hunt.

Another complaint with most tree stands is they are too small for comfortable use over a long period of time. Movement is drastically restricted. The hunter must sit or stand in one spot, usually a platform no more than 18 inches square.

One thing a deer hunter learns early in the game is patience. This means the hunter selects his hunting area carefully as well as the location he plans to hunt from in that particular area. Once the hunter goes on stand, he expects to wait patiently for the game to appear. This could be anywhere from a few minutes to several hours.

And once game appears, it is sometimes necessary to move closer and into position for a shot. This is impossible if you are on a stand high in a tree.

A few years ago, I made a blind that has proven ideal for deer hunters. It's made from camouflaged cloth and netting purchased from bolts of material at an Army surplus store for only a few dollars. The material came in four-foot widths and I purchased a length of cloth about 10 feet long.

I added cloth ties on each end and down the width, both three feet and seven feet in from one end. This strip of cloth makes a four-foot backside to the blind with three-foot sides. The length of camouflaged netting was eight feet long and forms the front of my blind.

The cloth fits compactly into my small army duck backpack I use for other incidentals, such as length of rope, a plastic bag, box of pepper, etc. The weight is negligible. This allows me to carry the blind most anywhere without it being a burden and putting it up or taking it down in only a few minutes.

Once I arrive at my hunting area, I select the location where I plan to take a stand and set up the blind. It usually can be tied into place easily by the use of any available brush or bushes nearby. Sometimes I merely drape the cloth over a bush. I like the blind because it allows freedom of movement. I can move around behind the camouflage netting and cloth without being detected by approaching game that have the habit of standing still and looking over an area carefully before moving forward.

The longer a person sits on a stand, the stiffer he becomes. Occasional shifting in position relaxes the muscles and also prevents cramps. The solid cloth forming the backhand sides of my blind conceal my movements entirely. I need only remember to move quietly.

Weather hampers anglers

The combination of hot humid weather and heavy rainfall has taken its toll on Illinois' fishing results.

Action throughout the state has slowed considerably, with success on area waters spotty at best.

Elsewhere, fishing action also has been slow, with only isolated catches reported.

Lake Michigan fishermen are landing some excellent catches of salmon and trout. But Chinook salmon, not as plentiful as early, have been extremely active.

Coho in the three to six pound range are being taken in 12 to 25 feet of water. Best fishing has been in 20 feet of water southeast of the Waikuan harbor during early morning, or in 50 to 80 feet of water in the afternoon.

Any type or color of plug, spoon or fly is effective for the big fish. Downriggers, green lures, red dodgers, or small squids also are good. Lake and brown trout are being caught more frequently than in the past several weeks. But steelhead are scarce.

Most lake species are expected to stay in shallow water as long as the wind continues to blow from the northwest.

Lake Shelbyville fishing also has fallen off.

Good catches of largemouth bass are being taken on topwater lures in early morning or late evening from points and near steep clay banks.

White bass fishing is fair to good, but seems to be improving daily. Most white bass are being caught in natural finish, deep-diving plugs, trailing a jig or streamer and trolled eight feet deep over points or flats.

Good numbers of quarter-pound bluegill can be taken with poppers, crickets or worms from small bays and shoreline areas. Several channel cat and bullhead have been taken on trotlines baited with large minnows, leeches, crayfish, live or cheesebait set in two to eight feet of water near the shoreline.

A few nice stringers of crappie have been taken from Lake Shelbyville using minnows and fishing 8 to 10 feet deep.

Fishing for walleyes, meanwhile, is fair, with some one to six pound fish taken on natural finish, deep-diving baits, trolled 8 to 10 feet deep near flat edges.

Fishing for white bass is fair to good using jugs and minnows.

Good stringers of bluegills are being taken at Rend Lake on crickets and redworms. And crappie in the quarter-pound range are being taken near rip-rap or flooded timber at the north end of the lake.

Trotlines are taking care of catfish using leeches, cut bait, crayfish and night crawlers. Also some nice catches of white bass are being taken at Rend Lake using spinner baits or rooster tails.

Pro con of tree stands

Letters of application for permits to hunt dove on four state-managed areas are now being accepted by the Conservation Department.

Permits will be allocated on a first-come, first-served basis for Green River Conservation Area in Lee County, Des Plaines Conservation Area in Will County, Silver Springs State Park in Kendall County and Sand Ridge State Park in Mason County. There is no fee for the permits.

Hunting will be restricted to 150 hunters a day at Green River, 100 at Des Plaines, 100 at Silver Springs and 50 at Sand Ridge.

Hunting is by permit only Sept. 1 to 5. Following those first five days, no permits are necessary.

Green River will be open until Oct. 31, with 12 gauge allowed each day. Des Plaines and Silver Springs will remain open through Sept. 12. Sand Ridge will remain open until Nov. 9.

Applications for permits to hunt the first five days of the dove season on the four state-managed areas must be made by mail.

No more than two applications for each envelope will be accepted. Permits are non-transferable.

Hunters should list their names and address, area they wish to hunt and first, second, and third choice of hunting dates.

Formal application blanks are necessary. Sportsmen must check into the hunting areas between 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily.

Applicants should apply to: Dove Permits, Division of Wildlife Resources, Department of Conservation, 100 E. Washington Street, Springfield, Ill. 62706.

The dove is not an easy bird to hit in the wing, in shallow fast eye and a quick gun to bag the birds with any consistency.

Those who hunt doves with regularity will readily admit they usually miss more than they hit. Those who can bag their limit of 12 birds can take pride in their marksmanship.

Many hunters use 12-gauge shotguns for doves because they feel the larger the gun and heavy, 16 shot will kill birds at longer distances.

However, a 12-gauge shotgun won't give the hunter more range than the smaller gauges.

True, the 12-gauge is somewhat more efficient ballistically. Compared to the 16 or 20 gauge, with the same load of shot, the pressure is less, the velocity is higher, the shot column shorter and the pattern more even.

But to gain this bit of performance, the hunter must contend with a heavier and more awkward weapon.

A full-choke shotgun designed to put 70 to 80 percent of all the shot in a 30-inch circle at 40 yards; improved modified choke, 55 to 70 percent; modified 55 to 55; quarter choke (sometimes called strong improved cylinder), 55 to 60; and improved cylinder, 45 to 60.

The best shot for hunting doves is No. 9 or No. 8. The dove is a small fragile bird, not difficult to bring down and the hunter has a much better chance hitting it with three or four No. 8 pellets than he has with one No. 6.

With the smaller No. 9 and No. 8 shot, the hunter fills in those holes in a pattern which develops with larger shot.

CRITICAL CARE COURSE
A critical care course for nurses will be offered by Barnes Hospital from Aug. 29 through Nov. 2. It will include respiratory, cardiology, neurology, psychosocial, metabolic, immunology and renal systems. The four course will meet two times weekly from 1 to 3 p.m. for 10 weeks.

Classes open to trace ancestry, talk with deaf

A person can learn to trace his ancestry or to talk with the deaf in classes offered at Belleville Area College at Granite City South this fall.

Genealogy, scheduled for Thursdays from 7 to 9:45 p.m., is an eight-week course and will begin Thursday, Aug. 24. Signed English, or deaf communications, starts Tuesday. A beginners' class and an intermediate class will both be taught from 7 to 9:45 p.m.

Other classes which still have space for students are macramé on Monday, custom drapery on Thursdays, refresher shorthand on Wednesdays.

Also beginning shorthand on Thursdays, Accounting II (a credit course) on Tuesdays, and foodservice sanitation on Tuesdays.

The state has extended the time during which foodservice workers may obtain cer-tification for foodservice sanitation; however, the law is still on the books and all foodservice establishments must prepare to comply with its requirements for certified workers in each public dining place.

To enroll in these classes and to inquire about other courses which may still have space, area residents may call Patty Evans after 1 p.m. at 876-7570 or 876-7571.

Stricter law on child support

Governor James R. Thompson approved legislation Friday to strengthen and encourage the state's ability to collect back child support payments owed by fathers whose children also receive financial aid from the Illinois Department of Public Aid.

"When a father whose children are on welfare doesn't make his child support payments, we have waste, because the taxpayers have to pay more. By cutting down on the delinquent fathers, we can save tax dollars. And that is the purpose of this bill," the governor said.

"It will allow the department to go one more step in tracking down fathers who aren't making their court-ordered child support payments when their children are getting public assistance."

Senate Bill 995 extends the department's authority to contract with local government units to find the delinquent fathers, to include contracting with private individuals as well.

The legislation permits a fee of up to 25 percent of the amount collected to be negotiated by the department with those with which it has contracted to collect back payments from the delinquent fathers.

Before any contracts are entered into, approval is required by the Illinois attorney general, the legislation provides.

Speed work on 2 new prisons

Governor James R. Thompson released the remaining $10 million in capital development funds Thursday for the next phase of construction at the Hillsboro Correctional Center.

Bids will be taken Sept. 21 by the Capital Development Board for construction of 15 residential units, isolation and receiving facilities at Hillsboro, Thompson said. Estimated cost of the work is less than $10 million.

Advertising for future construction phases at the Hillsboro and Centralia correctional centers will begin in October, but bids will not be taken until the General Assembly reconvenes in November and extends bonding authorization for the board, the governor said.

Work to be bid for the Hillsboro Center after bonding authorization is extended includes construction of support facilities, such as a kitchen-dining-maintenance warehouse building, administration building, medical, academic and vocational facilities and chapel.

Work to be bid at Centralia will include all phases of building construction, such as 15 residential units, the isolation and receiving facilities and other support facilities.

"Rough grading, fencing and off-site utility work are proceeding according to schedule at the Hillsboro and Centralia sites," CDB Executive Director Donald S. Blickman said.

"It's our goal to have both correctional centers operational in the fall of 1980. This will require the cooperation of the contractors, the workers and the weather."

"The architects and engineers have accelerated their bid packages so that more work can proceed at the same time. The last bid package, originally scheduled for February 1979, has been moved up a month to give more time for actual construction."

The revised bid deadlines for the Centralia prison are: guard towers Sept. 6, residences isolation-receiving Nov. 28, on-site utilities and fencing Sept. 28, kitchen-maintenance building, administration building, medical, academic and vocational facilities Dec. 7 and academic-vocational-chapel and multi-purpose facility Jan. 6.

In the same order, Hillsboro bidding will take place Sept. 14, Sept. 21, Oct. 5, Dec. 21 and Jan. 25.

Carol Schmidt marries Stephen Brian Berk

Miss Carol Ann Schmidt and Stephen Brian Berk, both of Providence, R.I., were united in marriage on Aug. 12, in ceremonies held in the home of the groom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Berk of Pascoag, R.I.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Isabel Schmidt of Granite City, and the late Ralph W. Schmidt. The groom's mother resides in Pascoag, R.I.

Judge Lawrence Goldberg performed the double ring ceremony at 8 o'clock in the evening, followed by a reception held in the Lawrence Berk home. A six piece orchestra provided musical selections during the evening.

For her wedding, the former Miss Schmidt selected a long white cotton dress fashioned with an oval neckline, bordered with a deep eyelet ruffle, and worn off the shoulder to create a short sleeve effect.

Her full gathered skirt was encircled at the hemline with a wide eyelet flounce. She carried a bouquet of white roses and baby's breath.

Miss Mary Ann Lee of Boston, Mass., the bride's roommate at Boston University, attended her as maid of honor.

She wore a full length dress fashioned with a white draped bodice with V-neckline and short sleeves which were gathered with self fabric ties at the shoulder and a blue gathered skirt featuring a deep flounce, edged with white eyelet trim.

Mrs. Schmidt, mother of the bride, selected a formal length blue Qiana sleeveless gown worn with a matching chiffon coat, designed with long sleeves, gathered at the wrists with satin cuffs.

The groom's mother was attired in a yellow floor length dress, designed with a boat neckline and full length chiffon sleeves. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

Following a wedding trip to Greece and Turkey, the newlyweds will be at home after Sept. 1, at 171 Oak Hill Ave., Pawtucket, R.I.

A Granite City High School South graduate, the bride also graduated from Northwestern University and Boston University. She belonged to Sigma Theta Tau and Alpha Chi Omega Sororities and is now employed as a nurse at Miriam Hospital, Providence.

The groom graduated from Moses Brown Prep School and the University of Vermont where he was a member of Tau Epsilon Phi Fraternity. He is owner of retail clothing stores in Providence.

'Balanced' budget for Madison schools

A tentative 1978-79 operating budget for Madison School District 12 amounting to $4,848,365 was approved by the Board of Education in a regular meeting Thursday night and was posted for public inspection during the next 30 days.

John Palchett, superintendent of schools, told the board the budget is a balanced one and is not expected to increase the district's tax rate for collections next year. The Madison School District rate was $3.22 per $100 assessed valuation for collections this summer.

The new budget is an increase of $69,503 over the 1977-78 budget of $4,778,862. Palchett said the increases were due to salaries, fixed charges, operations and transportation along with inflationary rises in the cost of materials, supplies and equipment.

Board members set Thursday, Sept. 21, as the date of a public hearing and action by the board to adopt a permanent budget.

Palchett told board members that on the basis of the new budget total as applied against an estimated assessed valuation of $20,787,320, no increase in the tax rate is expected. He explained, however, that any sizeable decrease in assessments could affect the tax rate.

Added protection in the hiring of domestic workers

A little-publicized bill signed last week by Governor James R. Thompson provides added protection for working parents who employ domestic service workers through licensed private employment agencies.

Illinois Department of Labor Director William M. Bowling said House Bill 2661 amends the Illinois Private Employment Agencies Act to give added protection to persons making use of domestic service workers employed through such agencies.

Cruelly by a Chicago area babysitter was cited during the legislative debate.

Prior to the enactment of HB 2661, Bowling pointed out, each agency was required to furnish a bond upon which any injured party could sue for misconduct by the agency, but the Act made no provision to protect the agency user from injury through negligence on the part of the agency.

"As amended, the Private Employment Agencies Act now allows an injured party to sue upon the bond for negligence as well as misconduct," Director Bowling said. "It abolishes the defenses of contributory negligence and assumption of the risk in the furnishing of domestic service employees."

"This is made necessary because employers in the domestic service industry are mostly working class people who rely on the professional expertise of the agency in checking references and furnishing qualified employees. These people seldom request and double-check the references themselves."

RETREAT FOR WOMEN
A retreat for women—single, married, divorced—will be held at the Family Life Center, Pevely, Mo., the weekend of Sept. 1-3. It will be under the direction of the Rev. Wilfrid Tunink, director of the center, which is operated by the St. Plus Abbey of Benedictine Monks.

Bulk of the budget increase was in the educational fund set at $3,830,915, up from last year's appropriation of $3,283,562. Salary increases of faculty and administrators is reflected in this fund, he said.

The building fund budget has been set at $418,000, up from last year's budget of $374,500.

The district projects revenue next year of $3,174,606 in the educational fund which also has a balance of $704,993. This will make total funds available of $3,999,599 in the educational fund.

In the building fund, projected revenue of $181,154 and a balance of $24,638 will provide total available funds of $415,792, or $2,217 less than budget expenditures of $418,000.

In other budget accounts, the transportation cost is projected at $125,300, up from $110,750 last year, and payments to the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund are budgeted at $80,000, up from $68,000 last year.

Fire and safety code expenditures are budgeted at $50,000, down from $55,000 last year, and appropriations for special education facilities are set at $130,000, up from $125,000. For bond and interest payments, the new budget calls for expenditure of $251,500, compared to $206,500 last year.

SHORTCAKE SUPREME --- Strawberry shortcake is everyone's favorite summer dessert. This one substitutes a sweetened cream cheese topping for the more traditional whipped cream.

It's still summer, so enjoy strawberries

There's hardly a more traditional use for strawberries than in a shortcake. You can use any recipe for the cake including one from a packaged biscuit mix, or use prepared sponge cake. This substitutes a sweetened cream cheese topping for the more traditional sweetened whipped cream. If you're watching calories or fat, you could substitute plain yogurt, sweetened to taste.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

2 cups unbleached flour
One-third cup sugar
1 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 cup butter
1/4 cup milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
3 oz. package cream cheese, softened
3 tbsps. cream, unwhipped
3 tbsps. confectioners' sugar
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
Sliced, hulled strawberries (sweetened to taste)
Clean, hull and slice berries. Sprinkle on sugar, if you like. Refrigerate, covered, until ready to use. Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Combine flour, one-third cup sugar, baking powder (this really uses 1 tablespoon) and salt.
Cut in butter until crumbly. Combine milk and eggs. Make a well in dry ingredients and pour in milk mixture all at once. Stir until dry particles are moistened; do not overmix.
Spread dough in greased 9-inch or 8-inch baking pan.

Bake 25 to 30 minutes, until golden brown. Split and fill with fruit and topping. Or cut into wedges and split, then fill.

To make individual shortcakes, drop dough by rounded tablespoons 2 inches apart on greased baking sheet. Bake at 450 degrees for 10 to 20 minutes, or until golden brown.

To make topping, combine cream cheese, cream and sugar. Blend in nutmeg. Use to top shortcake, or other fruits. (The grated rind of a lemon, or orange may be substituted for the nutmeg. Or substitute 1/4 teaspoon cardamom, and substitute brown sugar for confectioners' sugar.)

This creamy rice pudding is a light, nutritious summer dessert. It goes under the broiler for a few minutes, to give a browned top, then is spooned into pretty goblets.

BURN'T STRAWBERRY CREAM

3 cups cooked rice
3 cups milk
One-third cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
2 pkgs. (3 oz. each) cream cheese, softened
1 1/2 tps. vanilla
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
2 pints fresh strawberries, hulled, sliced and sprinkled with a little sugar
One-third cup brown sugar
Combine rice, milk, sugar and salt in a saucepan. Cook over medium heat until thick and creamy, about 30 minutes, stirring frequently. Remove from heat and add cream cheese and vanilla. Stir until cheese is dissolved. Chill. Fold in whipped cream. Chill thoroughly.

Arrange berries over the bottom of a 7 1/2 by 12 by 2-inch baking dish. Spoon pudding over berries. Sprinkle with brown sugar. Place under broiler for one or two minutes, or just until sugar melts. Spoon into serving dishes, or serve in baking dish, topped with a little extra whipped cream and garnished with a berry. Serve immediately. Makes eight servings.

Note: A 16-ounce package of frozen, sweetened strawberries (thawed and drained) may be used.

This Creme de Strawberry Pie is a luscious combination of cream, strawberries, brandy and cream de cacao (you'll find it in liquor departments of most stores).

CREME DE STRAWBERRY PIE

2 tps. unflavored gelatin
5 tps. cold water
Sugar
Dash salt
2 eggs, separated
1 tsp. brandy
5 tps. white creme de cacao
1 cup heavy cream
Graham cracker cocoa pie crust, baked (recipe follows)

1 pint fresh strawberries, hulled, halved and sweetened to taste
Sprinkle gelatin over cold water in a large saucepan. Add 3 tablespoons sugar, the salt and egg yolks. Beat until blended. Heat gelatin mixture over low heat, while stirring, until gelatin dissolves and mixture thickens. Do not let it boil.

Remove from heat and stir in brandy and 4 tablespoons of creme de cacao. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Beat egg whites until stiff. Gradually beat in 3 tablespoons sugar and beat until stiff and glossy. Fold into thickened filling mixture. Whip 1/2 cup of the heavy cream; fold into filling mixture. Turn into cooled, prepared pie crust. Chill four hours, or until set.
At serving time, whip remaining cream with reserved 1 tablespoon creme de cacao. Garnish pie with strawberry halves and large rosettes (made with pastry bag) or spoonfuls of whipped cream.

Graham Cracker Cocoa Pie Crust: Mix 1 and two-thirds cups graham cracker crumbs, 2 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa and 1/4 cup sugar in bowl. Work in one-third cup softened butter with pastry blender or fingers. Sprinkle 1 tablespoon water over mixture and toss until moistened. Press into 9-inch pie plate and bake 8 to 10 minutes at 375 degrees. Cool thoroughly before filling.

At 8 p.m. tomorrow, Pete Seeger and Arlo Guthrie will perform live from Wolf Trap Park, in a concert of folk, ragtime, country blues and American ballads from the Revolutionary and Civil Wars. Topping off Tuesday night at 10:30 is An Evening of Blue Grass featuring John Hartford, Bryan Bowers, Doc and Merle Watson and The Dillards.

Late-night trouble spots, apparent lax enforcement of teen drinking law are of growing concern to Granite Cityans

What's happening downtown? A bit too much, on some nights.

There were varied reports of disturbances, crime and vandalism in the downtown Granite City area last week and during the weekend, adding to growing concern that many, including under-age and Missouri youths, are obtaining alcohol and resorting to violence.

Last night, there was a fight at the Upper Level Tavern, 19th and State streets, and a break-in at Vaughn's Pharmacy, 1836 Delmar Ave.

At 10:45 p.m. Sunday, police were called to a fight outside the Upper Level that allegedly started in the tavern when the doorman refused to admit three young persons because one's clothing did not fit the tavern's dress code. When police arrived, they found several persons on the sidewalk scuffling, and a second squad car was requested to help quell the disturbance.

The doorman, Michael Hollis of 913 Lee St., Madison, alleged that when he refused to admit three youths, one refused to leave and "threatened to burn this town to the ground." Hollis said the youth grabbed him, tore off a shirt sleeve and tried to fight. A customer assisted Hollis in removing the youth from the tavern.

Outside, the youth continued to fight with Hollis and the customer, and stated he was a member of the Hell's Angels motorcycle gang and would bring gang members in "to burn" Hollis, the customer and the town.

Police arrived and Hollis signed a complaint alleging battery against Robert A. Tuft, 19, of 2137 Robert Ave. Tuft was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment of minor injuries, was released to police and was set free on $35 bond at 2:10 a.m. today.

At 1 a.m. today, officers discovered that a lug wrench had been used to break glass in the front door of Vaughn's Pharmacy and about $2,400 worth of prescription medicine and $30 cash had been stolen.

Drugs included valium and librium. There are no "hard" drugs kept in the pharmacy, police noted. A youth said he was in the Barrel Restaurant and Lounge, 19th Street and Delmar Avenue, and overheard several youths talking about the incident.

He said the youths were talking about seeing one man ducking through the bottom half of the front door of the drug store, carrying a large bag or basket full of things from the store. Another man was standing outside the store about that time and a third man was in the vicinity.

On Monday night, a 15-year-old Granite City boy was arrested near 19th Street and Delmar Avenue and was charged with disorderly conduct. He was released on a notice to appear before juvenile authorities.

Police said they had warned the youth to go home after he was found swinging a belt at persons on the sidewalk. When officers returned 35 minutes later, they alleged the boy was arguing with three persons who had just left a tavern.

At 10:20 p.m. Thursday, a 14-year-old girl was found in a fight on the sidewalk in the downtown area and police broke up the fight. The girl, who suffered a swollen hand, said she had been drinking in a tavern prior to the incident. A 30-year-old woman who was with her alleged that beer had been served to both of them.

Some time between 6 p.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. Friday, someone threw a large piece of concrete through a 5x10-foot window at the front of Hub Drug Store, 1320 Nineteenth St., breaking the plate-glass window. The concrete also struck a shelf and knocked the merchandise on the floor.

At 12:15 a.m. Saturday, Jeff A. Rill, 18, of 3213 Erin Drive, was charged with consuming alcohol on the public street after he allegedly walked out of a downtown tavern with a plastic cup full of beer in his hand. He alleged he had not been asked to produce any identification.

At 3 a.m. Saturday, two young women said they were beaten as they left the Upper Level Lounge, 19th and State streets. The women said they saw a man and a woman arguing and attempted to stop the disagreement.

The man then struck one woman with a fist, knocking her unconscious, and struck the second young woman several times with his fist, causing bleeding on her face. The assailant then got on a motorcycle with another young woman on the back and left the scene.

Some of the late-night places in the central business district pose no problems, and others are said to be trying to "clean up their act." But perfection hasn't been attained, and the rate of progress in achieving improved conditions is worrying many citizens.

Dan Partney focusing on important question facing county

Alton Telegraph — Well-meaning attempts by Dan Partney of Granite City to get the Madison County Board or the state's attorney's office to act on the accusations of corrupt activities revealed by federal trials of three City of Madison policemen are politically tinged but may reflect the attitudes of many voters.

The 149 vote against a resolution to have the merit commission and state's attorney's office bring charges against sheriff's deputies indicated some support, too, for some locally directed inquiry and follow-through.

Realistically, however, the interrelationship of the politically-dominated board and state's attorney's office should be obvious to idealists hoping for a housecleaning and major changes.

State's Attorney Nick Byron has delayed acting until the U.S. Attorney's office has completed its work, which may or may not include further prosecution. Meanwhile, days and months continue to tick off as the statute of limitations for criminal prosecution is tolling (or running).

Whether enough time elapses to bar prosecution on evidence revealed in investigations is purely up to the priorities of the U.S. Attorney. The seven-year statute of limitations may become a central factor in what is done, as well as deals made on immunity from prosecution.

The citizens of Madison County are entitled to know what is going on at the federal and county level. We think their awareness is hampered by the closed information stance on U.S. Attorney Gerald Fines and his staff.

We are among those who feel more action may be coming from the U.S. grand jury purely on the basis of the depth of the investigation and the amount of material developed. Such activity may or may not be involved in the soon-heightening election campaigns.

Further action or lack of it may well be major issues in the county races this fall. Partney has focused on an important question, too, in his effort to get the merit commission to act on deputies.

Candidate Emil Toffant has a different view of the role the merit commission should play as opposed to its political makeup at present. Toffant promises some housecleaning, too, if elected.

COHN FOR JUDGE hot-air balloon is attempted to be inflated Friday evening in the parking lot of the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center. The balloon was one of several events during the weekend in conjunction with a Dan Stack for Congress barbecue and other festivities which included the appearance of many Republican candidates for various offices in the Nov. 7 general election. Two tents also were set up on the parking lot and food and drinks were served to the public. The balloon never was completely inflated as winds of 15 to 25 mile-per-hour made the task difficult. The balloon was to lift-off with Gerry Cohn, Republican candidate for circuit judge, aboard, but the high winds prevented the lift-off.

Girl, 16, beaten, raped The FORUM

A 16-year-old Eagle Park Acres girl told Madison County sheriff's deputies at 4:05 a.m. Saturday that a man had entered her home, beat her and raped her twice.

The girl said she was awakened at 3:30 a.m. Saturday by a young black man who jumped on her, beat her, dragged her from her bed to the front room while threatening to kill her.

She said she resisted efforts to undress her, but the man tore her clothing off. She yelled to her younger brother and sister for help, but the man continued to beat and threaten her.

Her 5-year-old brother entered the front room and the man then wrapped a curtain around the girl's neck, choked her and dragged her outside into the back yard where he raped her, she reported.

She said he then pulled her across the street and behind Faith Tabernacle where he raped her a second time and then ran away. The victim ran to a nearby mobile home and called deputies.

She described the rapist as 17 to 18 years old, thin, about 5 feet, 8 inches tall and having a dark complexion. Sheriff's detectives are conducting an investigation, a spokesman said.

'Whirlaway' finishes by Seebold

Former Granite Cityan Bill Seebold Jr. utilized late sprints to capture the first and fourth heats in world's championship Grand Prix boat races before a crowd of 20,000 Sunday on the Meramec River in Fenton, Mo.

Operating a new speedboat, Seebold dropped out of the second and third heats due to electrical short-circuits in the fuel injection system.

He finished third in the Mod-U unlimited class, won by Reggie Fountain of Torbory, N.C. Both races for the Mercury outboard motors team.

His 19-year-old son, Mike

Seebold, won the SST-120 class for boats with 120-cubic-inch engines.

Van found

A short time after publication of an article in Thursday's Press-Record of the theft of a van belonging to Petr's Restaurant and Catering Service, 1416 Twentieth St., a woman called Venice police and reported the stolen van was in the back yard of a home on Weber Street at 3:05 p.m. Thursday.

Venice officers located the van and watched it until a young man arrived and began to remove parts from the vehicle. They then arrested him and subsequent investigation led to the arrests of two other men. All three are from Venice.

The 19-year-old who was seen working under the van was released without charges being filed. Theft charges are being prepared against the other two men, ages 23 and 27.

The van, which had two flat tires, was loaded onto a pickup

Improvement in state aid to schools

To the Editor:
House Bill 2891 became law July 31 when Gov. James Thompson affixed his signature.

The modified school aid formula measure survived its trip through the legislature thanks to a major effort by the Illinois Education Association to seek compromises among outstate and suburban legislative factions and to urge them to band together.

Enactment of the measure constitutes a substantial victory for outstate and suburban public school districts in that the state will provide $1,359,000,000 in general state aid for the coming year. That total represents an increase of more than $70 million in revenue over the prior year's appropriations.

Teachers throughout the state appreciated the concern evidenced by the governor and legislature in providing additional aid to school districts caught in an inflationary spiral. Hundreds of school districts throughout the state can continue to offer quality education because the governor and the legislators have recognized the seriousness of problems facing education today.

I am pleased that the IEA and its teacher-members played a vital role in bringing the needs of the educational community to the attention of Illinois lawmakers.

Enactment of the school aid distributive bill was made possible by a strong coalition of outstate and suburban Republicans and Democrats who banded together to achieve a significant victory for the equalization of state funding for education.

HB 2891 was sponsored by Reps. William Harris (D-Marion) and Bruce Richmond (D-Murphysboro), and Sen. Kenneth Buzbee (D-Carbondale). Major provisions include:

—A raise from $1,260 to $1,293 per pupil in state funding guarantee.
—A 90 percent hold-harmless feature which guarantees that school districts will receive at least 90 percent of the previous year's entitlement.

A modification of the weighting factor for Title I which covers disadvantaged children, providing additional funds for suburban and outstate school districts.

This modification of the distributive formula will correct a longstanding inequity in distribution of state school aid. This aid is crucial to more than 600 school districts facing the dual pressures of inflation and a school aid system that does not fully compensate districts which experienced drastic increases in assessed valuation.

Teachers are grateful to Gov. Thompson and the members of the Illinois House and Senate who voted for HB 2891 for their support of the IEA-backed bill to provide funds for public education in fiscal 1978-79.

Picking up after pets recommended

To the Editor:
I commend Alderman Roy Poulos for his proposal to have pet owners pick up after their pets.

I am sure that anyone who has spent time and money on a yard, only to have the lawn ruined in spots because of "man's best friend," would certainly appreciate what Alderman Poulos proposes.

Also, anyone who has walked around or had their small children get into problems on their lawn or in the park would also appreciate something being done.

Oh, yes, one would like to see something done. I own a dog and I do pick up after her.

Wins hole-in-one tourney

Randy Roustio credits an hour's practice at the GCHS South athletic field Sunday morning with helping him win a metropolitan area hole-in-one contest yesterday at Forest Park.

He earned a $300 prize by hitting a golf ball 130 yards to a point nine inches from the cup, the best effort among 2,603 entrants. Jim Shields and Don Sampson tied for second place with shots 11 inches from the pin.

Before leaving to pitch for the Collinsville Spillers in a Fairmont City softball tournament Sunday afternoon, Roustio said the prize will be shared with Elaine Dowdy, who retrieved the practice balls he hit yesterday.

'Rooster Cogburn' movie postponed

Postponement of the "Rooster Cogburn" movie, which was to be shown Sunday at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Granite City Township Center, is announced today.

Another date for the film will be arranged, Nelson Hagauer, township supervisor, said this morning.

An item about the movie is published elsewhere in today's issue.

'Hap Garvin—He's glad he came back

By PETE HAYES
Press-Record Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — When James 'Hap' Garvin of 1700 More in Granite City was operated on for cancer nearly nine years ago, it looked bleak as far as him ever playing his favorite sport of golf again, or did it?

Not if you know the 70-year-old Garvin, very well. After the operation in May of 1969, he came back and won a golf tournament in August at Collinsville's Camelot Golf Course.

But to friends of Garvin, that accomplishment came as hardly a surprise. The man has been pulling stunts like that for 51 years (save 2½ years of Seebies service in World War II); ever since he first picked up an old wooden-shafted golf club in his hometown of Decatur, Ill., in 1927, after graduating from Assumption (Ill.) High the same year.

BUT NEVER was anybody more surprised than was Garvin recently when he shot a golfer's dream—a hole-in-one—at Arlington Golf Club, near Granite City.

What's even more ironic is that right after the round of golf was finished, Garvin was notified in the Arlington clubhouse that he had won the recent Kiwanis hole-in-one contest held at Arlington earlier this summer.

"I just couldn't believe it," said Garvin. "I'd never shot a hole-in-one before, and that was thrilling enough. But to be told I'd just one at Kiwanis tournament right after I did it. That's really something."

The Kiwanis tournament awards a prize for the person coming the closest to the pin on the thirteenth hole, the exact hole Garvin hit his hole-in-one.

THE THIRTEENTH at Arlington is a 165-yard hole and Garvin got his ace with a four-iron. It was witnessed by Jake Reeves, Ruel Pope and Willima Morgan. Garvin, who retired from working on the railroad some nine years ago, said he has come within inches of holes-in-one several times in his half-century-plus of golfing. One of those times was recalled by Garvin.

"We were playing at Nelson Park in Decatur and there was a group of men playing ahead of us, on the green," he said. "I hit my tee shot and watched it sail toward the green."

"One of the guys in that group ahead of us was a minister. Well, he told me when I reached the green that he'd seen my ball heading for the hole, but he didn't know whether or not to take the flag out, so he left it in."

"The ball had hit the flag pole and bounced away from the hole. It was a few inches from the hole when I found it."

"Since he was a minister, I couldn't very well say what I was thinking."

HOW DID the son of a Decatur auto mechanic get interested in golf during the latter years of the depression? "Nelson Park was right on my way home from work," said Garvin. "Back then, you could play nine holes of golf for 24c at the public courses."

"I really don't know exactly when I got interested, but seeing it on my way home from work finally aroused my interest in it."

Garvin became so dedicated to his new-found sport that he played every chance he got. Just ask his wife, Rhoda. The two were married on a Thursday in 1938. Garvin won a golf tournament the very next Saturday.

Garvin says that while his wife has shown interest in his favorite sport, she hasn't taken up the game herself.

The most important thing to Garvin, however, isn't the fact that he shot the hole-in-one, but that he is able to play golf at all.

"I appreciate every day I'm able to go out on the course," he said. "The fact that I'm able to compete so well for my age says something for all senior citizens."

Garvin is a member of the Senior Citizens' Golf League at Arlington, where he's been a member since the club opened. THAT SAME FEELING influenced his pick of Al Gieberger as his favorite professional golfer. Gieberger also came back from a cancer operation to successfully compete on the PGA circuit.

Garvin showed that the hole-in-one wasn't some sort of a fluke recently when he shot back-to-back 35's (while playing two rounds of nine-holes) at Arlington. His 70 is 18 holes.

Coming Thursday

Mercer to clash with Music Room

ST. ANNE, MO. — Mercer of Granite found out two important things over the weekend... just how tough the Tournament of Champions is and who it will be facing next weekend in the championship finals of the Illinois Inter-City League baseball playoffs.

Mercer was beaten here Saturday night in the Tournament of Champions when it lost to Kutis Funeral Home of St. Louis 11-4, after trailing one point in the game 3-0.

Earlier (Thursday), Mercer defeated the Penton, Mo. Vets 18-3 in the tournament, being held here at ABC Park.

Thursday night, Bob Hughes went four-for-six in leading Mercer to its 18-3 barrage of the Vets.

NEWS From the other side of the river yesterday wasn't what Mercer had been hoping for, either. The Music Room (East Alton) Vans came up with a 5-4 victory over Highland.

McKendree lands JUCO Valley star

LEBANON — Doug Nalley, a transfer from Mineral Area, Junior College, Flat River, Missouri, has signed a letter of intent to play basketball for Coach Harry Statham's Bearcats this season.

Nalley, who prepped at Alton High School, led the Mineral Area team to the National Tournament in Hutchinson, Kansas last season.

A 6'4", 195 lb. guard, he shot 80 percent from the free-throw line, 50 percent from the floor and tallied 40 assists at Mineral Area last season.

"We're very pleased to get Doug," said Coach Statham. "He's an excellent outside shooter and feeds the ball in well. He'll be a definite outside threat."

Nalley, who averaged 14 points and seven rebounds a game for Mineral Area, also attended Rice University, Houston, Texas for one year prior to attending Mineral Area.

"His experience will really help the team," commented Statham.

A psychology major, Doug is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nalley of Carbondale.

Hobos win fast-pitch meet

The Granite City Park District men's fast-pitch softball season ended this weekend with Hobos' victory in the final playoff tournament Sunday.

Lincoln Athletic Club forfeited its first contest, which put Steve's Confectionery in the championship game.

Homer's shut out Hill and Co. in its first game by a score of 4-0. Ray Huff pitched a one-hitter for the Hobos.

In the title game, Steve's Confectionery took an early lead, scoring a run in the first inning, but the Hobos came back in the bottom of the second with four runs. They added to their lead in the fourth, scoring two more runs.

The last runs scored in the game were by Steve's and came in the fifth inning, but the two extra runs weren't enough and the Hobos won the game in the regulation seven innings, 6-3.

Robinson named as IHSA executive

BLOOMINGTON — Donald K. Robinson, 39, a former coach, a current official, and since 1975 the director of student affairs (principal) at Bradley-Bourbonnais High School, has been appointed an assistant executive secretary of the Illinois High School Association (IHSA) by the Board of Directors.

He assumed his new position on the IHSA administrative staff August 15.

A native of Warsaw, Ill., Robinson has a career in education that includes nine years as a teacher-coach and six years in administration. From 1963 to 1965 he was head football and wrestling coach and assisted in track at Savanna. From 1963 to 1965 he was head football and wrestling coach and assisted in track and golf at Ottawa (Marquette). For the next two years he was head football coach at Bradley-Bourbonnais. In 1972 Robinson became assistant director of student af-airs at Bradley-Bourbonnais. He was named the school's principal in 1975.

He earned his bachelor's degree in education from Western Illinois University, Macomb, in 1963 and his Master's in physical education from the University of Iowa in 1969. Immediately after graduating from Warsaw High School in 1966, he served until 1969 in the U.S. Army and was an instructor in computer electronics at Redstone Arsenal, Ala.

A certified official in boys' basketball and wrestling, Robinson also worked football, track and baseball. He first registered with the IHSA in 1963. He has served as president and secretary of the Tri-Valley Officials Association.

A former member of the Illinois Coaches Association, Robinson is a member of the Illinois Principals' Association. He was a member of the board of control of the South Inter-Conference Association (SICA) from 1976-78, and served as SICA treasurer last school year.

JUST THIS MUCH MORE: Mercer third base coach Tony Ringering (right) discusses things Saturday night during the Tournament of Champions with Mercer player-manager Pat Peterson. Whatever Ringering and Peterson said must not have worked... the team dropped an 11-4 decision to Kutis of St. Louis in the 16-city double-elimination affair.

IHSA prepares for 1978 prep football season

BLOOMINGTON — The biggest — and potentially the best — football season in the history of the Illinois High School Association (IHSA) is scheduled to get under way Friday, Sept. 8 when the first games in the 1978 season are played.

A record 540 teams may be eligible to participate in the season-ending five-class playoff series, which will be conducted for the fifth time beginning with Preliminary Round games Wednesday, Nov. 8. Quarterfinal Round games will be played Saturday, Nov. 11 and the Semifinal Round games will follow on Saturday, Nov. 18.

All five championship games again will be played on the campus of Illinois State Univ., Normal, and on the recently installed artificial turf of Hancock Stadium the weekend of Nov. 24-25 (Thanksgiving weekend).

The title games have been played at ISU since the inception of the IHSA Football Playoff Series in the 1974 season. The Class 1A and 2A title game will be played the afternoon of Friday, Nov. 25, with the Class 3A game to follow that night. The Class 4A battle will be staged the afternoon of Saturday, Nov. 25 and the Class 5A game is set for Saturday night.

Each of the 512 conference-affiliated schools and 28 independents (schools which do not belong to an eligible conference and which meet the game requirements of the Terms and Conditions of the 1978 series) will decide its own fate — and will contribute to the fate of its opponents — on the gridiron during the regular season. The official starting date of football practice is Wednesday, Aug. 16.

Schools have been classified and the host conferences for the Preliminary Round games have been designated by the IHSA. This year there are 66 football conferences and they have been assigned to one of the five classes based on average conference enrollment. Independents are classified according to where their enrollment falls within the classification of conferences. Class 1A is the smallest class and Class 5A is the largest. Members of the Chicago Public League do not participate in the series. Enrollment figures used in classification of schools are those of the previous school year.

A total of 529 schools entered the regular season in the initial year of the playoff series in 1975. In 1975 the number of football schools was up to 534 and the number was 534 in 1976. In 1977 the number reached a then record of 537.

The Illinois system was unique to high school football competition when it was introduced four years ago, but since then it has been copied (in whole or in part) by most of the other states which conduct football playoffs. The champion of each conference is guaranteed a berth in the 16-team field for its respective class. In the event of co-champions, each conference selects its own representative to the championship of a conference involving IHSA member schools and schools from another state (or states) as a school from another state, then all IHSA member schools in such a conference shall be considered potential eligible independents.

To be eligible for the playoffs a team (those in conferences or independents) must play a minimum of eight games by the conclusion of the ninth weekend of the season (Nov. 4, 1978), and at least one of those games must be against another IHSA member school. Should a school contract for a "varsity" game against a team in Class 5A, either Class 4A or Class 3A, while the Northern Illinois (Big Nine) moves up from Class 4A to Class 5A, as it did in 1975.

The conferences for 1978 by class are (with spread of average conference enrollments):

CLASS 1A (0-300) — Indian Valley, Western Area (WAC), Vermilion Valley, Northwest Eight, Little Okaw Valley, Meridian, Bi-County, Morgan-Sangamon-Macoupin (MSM), East Central, Little Eight, Midstate (Mid-Central), Sangamon Valley, Lincoln Trail, Western Illinois Valley.

Host and visiting schools after the Preliminary Round will be determined by the following factors:

1) If both teams advancing have hosted the bottom team in the bracket shall be the host school.

2) If both teams advancing have hosted one and the other team in the bracket shall be the host school.

3) If one of the teams advancing has hosted one and the other has not, the team which has not hosted will be the host for that game.

4) If one of the advancing teams traveled a distance of 150 miles or more as the visiting team in a Preliminary Round game, that team will be the host team for the Quarterfinal Round game. If both teams advancing traveled 150 miles or more, the bottom team in the bracket shall be the host school.

5) In the Semifinal Round, if one of the advancing teams has hosted one and the other twice, the team having hosted once will be the host team.

6) In all rounds, including the Championship Games, the host team shall wear dark jerseys.

For the Championship Game, the team advancing from the top half of the bracket shall be the visiting team and the team advancing from the bottom half of the bracket shall be the home team.

In addition, the Executive Secretary has been appointed by the Board of Directors to re-assign the site of a Playoff game location in the event of unusual circumstances develop. At the same time, a site other than the designated host school's field may be used subject to approval of the Board of Directors.

Spalding and Beasley finished second and third in the feature behind Thompson.

Weekly racing will continue Saturday night with hot laps at 7:30 and the first race at 8.

Garvin

Garvin moved his family to Granite City in 1955 when he was transferred here by the B.O. Railroad. He says that Granite City is now his home, but that he and his wife still go back to Decatur every other weekend.

"My mother-in-law, who's 96, still lives up there in the summer, so we go up to visit her and see if she's all right," said Garvin.

"She spends the winters with us," THEN GARVIN sat back and asked himself a question, "I wonder if I'll still be playing golf when I'm 85," he asked.

Then the answer came to him, "If I can still walk, I will be."

There's an example of how times have changed... We found a copy of a 1958 baseball guide and it says that big league club owners seriously discussed putting a salary limit on all major league players that year — paying NO player more than $4,000 for the whole season.

Today some players make 50 times — or more — than that.

An oddity of this baseball season is that Boston sent Cleveland to Texas and Texas sent Washington to Chicago! What happened was that Boston traded pitcher Reggie Cleveland to Texas this year, and Texas traded outfielder Claudell Washington to Chicago.

Who's the only big league baseball player who always wore the name of his hometown on the back of his uniform throughout his major league career? He was pitcher Bill Voiselle. Voiselle was from the town of Ninety-Six, South Carolina, and he always wore the number 96 on his uniform... Voiselle played in the majors from 1942 to 1950.

JAWS III? This 50-pound golden hammerhead shark was caught recently by Madisonian Randy Suchak (left) while he and his wife Pat (left) were vacationing in Florida near Miami Beach. The shark is approximately 5 feet, 2 inches long and had not achieved full growth at the time it was caught. It was the first time Suchak had ever been deep-sea fishing and it took him over one-half hour to land the shark.

3 charges in tavern shooting

Billy Wayne Johnson, 25, of 1303 Kirkpatrick Homes, was released from St. Elizabeth Hospital Thursday and was taken to the Granite City police station where he was lodged on warrants alleging armed violence, unlawful use of a weapon and reckless conduct. The charges stem from an incident in Stueb's Tavern, 2422 Nameoki Road, in which two men allegedly exchanged gunfire the night of Aug. 10. Another man is being sought in connection with the incident. Johnson was struck in the right leg with a bullet and it is believed the man who shot Johnson may have been wounded in a hand when Johnson allegedly returned the gunfire. Police returned Johnson to the hospital for additional treatment at 10:15 p.m. Thursday and he was returned to jail at 11 p.m.

Compromise likely on tuition credits

By ROBERT ESTILL
Press-Record

Rep. Tom Corcoran, R-Ottawa, is broaching a little easier now that the Senate has joined the House in approving tuition tax credits. Corcoran said the 65-27 Senate vote buys his optimism that taxpayers in 1979 will be able to claim a credit for college tuition paid since Aug. 1 of this year.

A primary House supporter of the credit concept, Corcoran knows personally the burden borne by parents of school-age youngsters. He has five children, ranging in age from eight to 15.

But the Senate vote does not mean that all is milk and honey. The House and Senate versions differ in several meaningful ways and will have to be resolved by conference committee.

The Senate bill provides the credits only for college students; the House version provides it for college, high school and elementary school students.

In the House version, the college credits would be $200 initially and $250 by 1980.

Corcoran predicts the conferees will go along with the Senate on excluding the high school and elementary school credits to lessen prospects for court challenges and a presidential veto. He expects that the credits probably will be set at $175 to $200 initially and $200 by 1980.

President Jimmy Carter has opposed the tax credits and advocated expanding existing scholarship programs by $1.46 billion to take in more middle-income students.

By mid-September, the president should have on his desk both his own expansion bill and the tax credit plan, Corcoran said.

He reasons that the popular support evidenced for the tax credit plan could cause Mr. Carter to sign it.

If the president approves his own plan instead, there are two options open to the credit advocates: Try to override a tax credit veto, or attempt to amend the credit into the tax bill, making it virtually veto-proof.

If it comes to a showdown, Corcoran believes the latter course will be followed because some Democratic sponsors of tax credits would be reluctant to override a veto by a president from their own party.

Rep. Tom Railsback, R-Moline, risked the wrath of three VIP constituents — his daughters Kathy, Julie and Maggie — when he voted against extending the deadline for Equal Rights Amendment ratification.

Although an ERA supporter, Railsback voted against extension after the House defeated his move to couple the extension with a provision giving states which have approved ERA the right to withdraw that approval during the extension period.

His daughters are members of "Concerned Children of Congress," a group of Congressional kids who banded together to support ERA.

But all is still happy in the Railsback household, reports his aide Dave Mahsman. "They realize he's a supporter," said Mahsman. "And, besides, they won."

John B. and Diane Anderson, children of Rep. John Anderson, R-Rockford, also were in the "Concerned Children" group, and they apparently had more impact. Anderson voted for the extension.

Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Park Ridge, was telling cloakroom colleagues that President Carter is pushing House Speaker Thomas "Tip" O'Neill Jr. for pope. "That way," Hyde punched, "all he would have to kiss is his ring."

President Carter is an ever-popular target for Capitol Hill wags.

"There are those on the Hill who say Mr. Carter will be a one-term president," said an aide to Rep. George O'Brien, R-Joliet.

"And those are the optimists."

Not all of the exchanges on the floor of Congress end up in the Congressional Record.

Take this recent exchange between Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., and Rep. David Davis, D-Wis., during a foreign aid debate.

"The gentleman from Wisconsin backs up his case with fancy statistics," Long said. "We all know that there are liars, born liars and statisticians."

When Obey questioned which category Long was placing him in, Long retorted to howls of glee from the House:

OUT-OF-TOWN SHOWS for The Muppets of Grace Baptist Church are set at 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. Thursday in the St. Clair Square Mall. Robert Patton, Grace Baptist minister of music and youth, is shown with his star performers.

Cyclist hurt

Gregory Landys, 19, of 2301 Arnold Drive, was injured when his motorcycle entered Wabash Avenue north of Pontoon Road from a soybean field and was struck by the auto of Chester Teetor, 2118 Cheshire Court at 4:40 p.m. Thursday. Landys was charged with failure to yield the right of way when entering the roadway. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted with swelling to his right calf, a bump to his head and abrasions to his right shoulder, left elbow and right hand.

The Eagles fly high at River Festival

As the sell-out crowd of more than 20,000 filled the sloping hillside at the Mississippi River Festival site, the excitement of the evening's concert mounted as the anxious audience waited for the appearance of the Eagles. After a brief warm-up by the opening act, Jesse Winchester, and a complete set change, the Eagles came on stage. They started with a more recent hit "Hotel California," then proceeded to 'grasp' the audience with more new songs, a number of oldies and even some Joe Walsh favorites. In addition to "Lyn' Eyes," "Already Gone," "Desperado," "Witchy Woman" and other well-known songs, the group came back for three encores. The first encore was a Joe Walsh hit, "Rocky Mountain Way," followed by the group's first hit "Take It Easy" as the second encore. After a standing ovation lasting several minutes, the group returned for a third encore, beginning with "James Dean" and ending the evening's performance with "Tequila Sunrise." The crowd hoped for a fourth encore but no one could have been disappointed. Above . . . The Eagles, from left, Timothy Schmit, Glenn Frey, Don Felder and Joe Walsh. Not pictured is drummer Don Henley. Below . . . The crowd and tent with one of two special sound systems camouflaged with painted palm tree scenes. At right . . . From top to bottom, Joe Walsh in several moods and lead guitarist Don Felder starts "Hotel California" with a double-neck Gibson.

To attempt hot-air balloon flight across United States

An Edwardsville man who has been ballooning for the past eight years and has participated in many national and local hot-air balloon races including last year's Great Forest Park Balloon Race will attempt to fly his balloon across the United States.

Bob Esch, owner and operator, with his wife Candy, of the Eschallor Ballroom Co., Edwardsville, is going to try to fly a hot-air balloon from the West Coast to the East Coast beginning his four-day journey on Jan. 13.

The company offers flight training and balloon sales in addition to promotions with the use of balloons. His most recent promotion was the attempt to inflate and lift-off the Coin for Judge balloon Friday evening in the parking lot of the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center on N. Main St.

The attempt was in conjunction of a Republican candidates barbecue sponsored by the Madison County Republican Men's Club.

In Friday night's attempt, Esch used a relatively small balloon, 90 feet high and about 50 feet in diameter with a volume of 56,000 cubic feet.

In the transcontinental attempt he will be using a much larger balloon. It will be nine times larger than the Coin for Judge balloon measuring 190 feet high and having a total capacity of 525,000 cubic feet of air.

Esch said that if he completes the flight in January it will be the first time it ever has been done in a hot-air balloon.

Dance Wednesday for GC seniors

Granite City Township will sponsor a dance for senior citizens at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the new township center, 2660 Delmar Ave.

All senior residents in the township are invited to join in the event, Nelson Hagnauer, supervisor, said.

Cycle overturns

John E. Ashburn, 25, of 208 Warsaw Lane, Mitchell, suffered multiple injuries when his motorcycle, turning left from Lenox Avenue onto Barkley Street in Mitchell, skidded on loose gravel and overturned at 4:50 p.m. Sunday.

Ashburn was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital after the accident with numerous abrasions to his body and face, cuts to his right eyebrow and mouth and several bruises.

HIT WITH BRICK

Cindy Mueller, 2256 Washington Ave., Apt. 7, was injured when another woman, about 19 years old, struck her in the head with a brick in Cindy Mueller's apartment at 6:50 p.m. Thursday. She said she and the other woman had an argument and the other woman threw items around the apartment and down the stairs, broke the storm door window and then struck her with the brick. She was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Trial errors rights under the aforesaid statute and the Constitution of the United States.

The court further erred in admitting irrelevant and highly prejudicial evidence and testimony regarding the resignations of defendants Grzywacz and Grcolan from the Madison City Police Department and the demolition of defendant Krieschok from lieutenant to sergeant.

"These internal administrative matters were not shown to be the results of, or in any way related to, the allegations contained in the indictment."

"The court erred in instructing the jury and in failing to give the instructions tendered by defense counsel for all of the reasons stated during the instruction conference."

"It erred in failing to sustain the defendants' motion for judgment of acquittal in that the evidence was insufficient to establish the offenses charged in the indictment, particularly — but not limited to — the fact that in 1961 or 1962, or that it was a 'legal entity' authorized under Chapter 24, Sections 2.14 and 2.15 of the Illinois Code as charged in paragraph 2 of Count 1 of the indictment."

"There was no showing that the acts alleged as racketeering activities were chargeable under state law as punishable by imprisonment for more than one year as required by 18 U.S.C. 1961 (1) (A)."

"With respect to Counts II, III and IV, there was no showing that the grand jury was legally constituted, nor any evidence as to the scope or purpose of its investigation, nor any evidence as to how the statements of the defendants were obtained or impeded the grand jury's investigation, and consequently no evidentiary basis for a finding of 'materiality.'"

"One can only speculate upon the government's rather diverse conduct with respect to non-City Madison evidence, a memorandum in support of the defense motion mentioned this week."

"This evidence clearly had nothing to do with the Section 1962(d) charge because the evidence relating to Grzywacz and the supposed payments to him from Madison County establishments had no connection whatsoever to the relevant enterprise — the City of Madison Police Department."

"Further, this evidence related only to Grzywacz, and yet the government continually represented to the court that this evidence would be tied into the conspiracy charge."

"Upon that representation, the government was permitted to introduce this evidence as part of its case-in-chief against all the defendants. It was evidence of acts in furtherance of the conspiracy charged in the indictment."

"Thus, the court did not have prior opportunity to review the evidence as evidence of intent, and the jury was undoubtedly led to believe that it was considered as substantive evidence against all of the defendants."

"In fact, the prosecution indicated in its opening statement that such evidence would be evidence of the conspiracy."

"Defendants submit that the resulting prejudicial effect was not cured by the limitation contained in Instruction No. 38 and, in fact, could not have been cured by any limiting instruction at the conclusion of the case."

"The conduct of the government's attorneys in introducing masses of evidence that even they themselves admitted bore no relevancy to the substantive charges against any of the defendants — amounts to prosecutorial misconduct which deprived defendants of a fair trial."

"The sordid and cumulative nature of this evidence was designed to, and undoubtedly did, prejudice the jury against the defendants."

the opportunity and the responsibility to serve, and to uphold high standards of ethics and quality service."

"It means the opportunity and responsibility to participate in community efforts, to help build better communities."

"It means paying the rent, so to speak, for the space we occupy in our society."

"The privilege of associating with men and women who actively participate in helping people."

"I look forward to continuing in United Way service with optimism and confidence."

Donovan commented, "We are looking forward to welcoming Mr. Campbell to our community and to the 1978 TCALW kickoff on Sept. 15. His visit with us will be a memorable experience."

For more than 20 years, Walter Campbell has been a strong advocate of the ability of volunteers to solve human problems by supporting a total service system to meet the needs of the community."

"He began in 1937 as a member of the Allied Industrial Workers and rose through the ranks to become president of Region Seven and a member of the International Executive Board. In 1971, he was elected secretary-treasurer of the Michigan State AFL-CIO."

"Although undergoing open-heart surgery in 1970, Mr. Campbell accepted the presidency of the United Way of Michigan in 1975. The Capital Area United Way in Lansing, recognizing his unique ability to motivate people to voluntary service through the United Way, named him to serve as chairman of Lansing's UW campaign in 1977."

"Through his personal effort and leadership, he concluded the drive with a 17 percent increase over the previous year."

"Noted for his sincerity, enthusiasm and ability to 'live it,' he has addressed more than 40 United Way kickoff meetings."

Campbell is a past member and twice chairman of the Michigan State Employment Security Commission."

For five years, he served as secretary to the United Negro College Fund Labor Committee. He was a member of the Michigan State Bar and the Michigan State Bar Association."

In addition to the United Way of America's Joseph A. Beirne Award in 1978, he also was awarded the Distinguished Service Award of the Michigan League for Human Services, that organization's highest award. The award has only been presented once previously in 20 years."

It recognized Campbell's dedication to meeting human needs. Describing him as a social services statesman and compassionate leader, the award further credited him with strengthening labor support of United Way and increasing labor participation."

Reservations for the breakfast may be made by calling 877-6780 or writing: Tri-Cities Area United Way, Inc., 2021 Edison Ave., Granite City 62040, on a first come, first served basis."

"Since limited seating exists, we encourage immediate responses to the invitations when received." TCALW Executive Director Albert P. King said.
